

Arlington Advocate

C. S. PARKER & SON, EDITORS AND PROPRIETORS.

Devoted to the Local Interests of the Town.

TWO DOLLARS A YEAR. SINGLE COPIES 5 CENTS

Vol. xli.

ARLINGTON, MASS., SATURDAY, JANUARY 27, 1912.

No. 7.

Do You Know Him?

If Not, Let Us Get Acquainted.

I WILL GLADLY DO THE FOLLOWING
FREE OF CHARGE

- No. 1. Examine your Watch, and give you my honest opinion as to its condition.
- No. 2. Examine the Setting of your Diamond Rings, Brooches, or Ear Rings, to see if the stones are secure in setting.
- No. 3. Clean and Polish your Jewelry at any and all times.
- No. 4. Measure and record your Frame and Lense measurements so that should you lose or break your glasses I can duplicate them.

ALFRED E. MYERS

Jeweler, Optometrist and Silversmith

Fine Watch Repairing

11 HANOVER STREET BOSTON, MASS.

Two Doors above Marston's Restaurant

Beacon Street Cars Stop in Front of Store

A Most Delicious
Confection

ZEPHYR CUTS

They are a real pleasure that Sweet T th

Molasses Peppermint Lime
Wintergreen Sarsaparilla Clove

Assorted Flavors

25c per lb

YERXA & YERXA

ABOUT TOWN MATTERS IN ARLINGTON.

All notices of concerts, lectures, entertainments, etc. to which an admission fee is charged or from which a revenue is to be derived, must be paid for by the time the regular advertising rates.

—Mr. E. H. Bartlett has presented to the new car station at the head of Bedford street, two U. S. flags.

—John F. Thornton, Jr., of 30 Magnolia street, has been confined to his home this week from a slight operation.

—Commander Smith, of Post 36, has had a rather serious time with his right hand, blood poisoning coming from what at first was a slight bruise.

—Two candidates for the of Board Public Works, in addition to Mr. Waage, have been named to suit this week.—Henry S. Adams and Philip Eberhardt.

—There will be a Fair held under the Auspices of the Woman's Alliance of the Unitarian church in the church vestry on Tuesday and Wednesday, February 13th and 14th, from 2 to 10.

—At the Unitarian church, on Sunday morning, Rev. Frederic Gill will preach the fourth sermon in the series on the covenant of the church, the theme being, "The Worship of God."

—Chairman Herbert W. Rawson has been induced to reconsider his determination to no longer serve as Selectman. The board as now constituted will be candidates at the spring election.

—There will be a "Sunset Service" at the First Parish (Unitarian) church on Sunday, from 5 to 5.30. It will consist entirely of organ music, closing with short prayers. All are cordially invited.

—Mr. A. W. Trow and A. P. Cutter are at Tampa, Florida, until after February 10th. The week of February will be spent at Daytona and the remainder of their stay at Jacksonville where they will be located until after March 23rd.

—The Endeavor Society of Pleasant street church will hold an open meeting next Sunday evening, at seven o'clock, in the vestry of the church. The subject will be, "The Foreign Missionary whose life has most inspired me."

—Dist. Atty. Higgins not-prossed Monday the manslaughter indictment against Howard T. Viets of this town, whose automobile killed Leo Smith, of Newton, on August 10, last. The case has been dragged along all these months for the simple reason that the government realized it had no case against Mr. Viets. The many friends of Mr. Viets and his parents will be glad that the case has been settled, for while they had no doubt as to its outcome, it is a satisfaction to know that the government acknowledged the utter lack of evidence against Mr. Viets and held him blameless for the unfortunate accident.

—Mr. Aaron B. Palmer, who for some years was a successful teacher in Lynn and later at Somerville, has been engaged as substitute at Russell school during the illness of the principal. In the interval he has been engaged in a business enterprise lately relinquished.

—Musical selections to be given at the First Baptist church, January 28, will be: organ, Cantilene, Capucci; anthem, Gloria in excelsis, Schnecker; anthem, God shall wipe away all tears, Field; offertory, Offertoire and Meditation, Salome; organ, Fantasie, Best.

—Edward L. Viets, the son of Mr. Frederick H. Viets of 8 Ravine street, who has been at Akron, Ohio, in the employ of the Goodridge Tire Co., has been appointed manager of the company's office at Houston, Texas, and, with his recent bride, has gone there to take charge of the business.

—Mr. Howard T. Viets is proving eminently successful in his position as sub-master in the Marblehead High school. He has been coaching the play "Tommy's Wife," which will be given this (Friday) evening, in Marblehead. Besides his duties as sub-master Mr. Viets is teaching in the night school in Lynn.

—The Historical Society will meet in Adelphi hall, 661 Mass. avenue, on the evening of Tuesday, Jan. 30th, at eight o'clock. The speaker will be Rev. Francis A. Gray, of Somerville, formerly pastor of the Universalist church of this town. The subject of the evening will be "The Wayside Inn."

—The Universalist Sunday School Association of Arlington held a supper and business meeting on Thursday evening, in the vestry of the church. A fine supper was served at 6.30 to the officers and teachers and the older scholars in the school who are members of the association. The business meeting was presided over by Supt. E. W. Goodwin of the school.

—Splendid ice harvests are reported every where. Up and down the Hudson river the great store houses were being filled last week. The ice is twelve inches thick and of most excellent quality. The little city of Hudson, (N. Y.) which is the center of the ice business, is steadily improving. A handsome new post office, built of brick and sandstone, is just completed, and a fine new theatre, up-to-date in all its appointments, is in the process of building. The National Bank occupies a handsome new white marble building and the County Court House is another recent and very imposing stone structure.

—Miss Parker may be consulted in regard to millinery at her home, 12 Pelham terrace. Ladies' and children's hats made and trimmed.

—Miss Helen Taft is visiting her sister, Mrs. Raymond Farr, at the latter's home at Pauley's Island, Georgetown, South Carolina.

—The subject of Dean W. O.'s sermon on Sunday evening, at the First Baptist church, will be "The Minute-men of Massachusetts avenue."

—Fraser, the oldest child of Mr. and Mrs. George Howland, was taken to the contagious hospital, in Somerville, Wednesday morning, suffering with diphtheria.

—The ladies of the Universalist Samaritan Society, under the leadership of Mrs. Frank Bott, are arranging for a Dickens arrival, on Wednesday evening, Feb. 7.

—The Boys' Brigade will attend the evening service at First Baptist church, Sunday evening, at seven-thirty, in a body, and will sing their regimental songs.

—The Henry Hornblowers and their daughter Helen, sailed last Saturday, for Cuba. They will visit their daughter, Mrs. Robert W. Atkins, at her husband's sugar plantation, where the Atkins spend the entire winter season.

—Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. White, of East Orange, New Jersey, announce the birth of a son, Jan. 17th, who has been named Edmund Payson after the maternal grandfather, who was a widely known and beloved citizen of Arlington.

—One of those pleasant neighborhood parties was held last Saturday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Yeames, 25 Kensington park. A charming dish luncheon served the latter part of the evening is one of the attractive features of these gatherings.

—Some very favorable comment has been heard regarding the candidacy of Mr. Waage for the Board of Public Works, as announced in last week's ADVOCATE. There is a strong feeling that a local man should be on that Board, whose daily duties keep him about town, so that a better oversight could be had of the work under way.

—Sunday will be observed as Young People's Day at the Universalist church. The entire morning service will be conducted by members of the Young People's Christian Union, with papers by Horatio Lamson, Irving Dawes and Durant Currier. The devotional service at 6.15 will be led by Miss Mary E. Hadley, the topic being "The Church and the Y. P. C. U."

—There were all day meetings at Symmes Arlington Hospital on dates of Jan. 19th and 24th, which were largely attended by the Hospital Aid and no end of work was accomplished. In fact, the ladies have everything ready for the opening of the Hospital by Feb. 1st. They have done splendid service in behalf of this very considerable project and deserve the success of their efforts.

—Miss Ellen Mullen, who was the maid in the family of Mr. Charles S. Parker, at 12 Pelham terrace, for four years, was married on Wednesday of this week, at the parochial residence of the St. Agnes church, to Mr. Patrick Fahey, the Rev. Jos. P. Lawless performing the ceremony. The couple entertained a party of friends on the evening of their marriage, at their home on the corner of Broadway and Marathon street, this town.

—At the meeting of the Locke School Association, Wednesday evening, in the hall of the Locke school, at Arlington Heights, Dr. Richard C. Cabot, of Boston spoke on "Sex Hygiene." The meeting was attended by a large number of persons. In the afternoon meeting for women only was held under the auspices of that association, and at this meeting Dr. Evangeline W. Young of Boston was the speaker.

—At the meeting of Bethel Lodge, I. O. O. F., Wednesday night, the Grand Master of Massachusetts paid an official visit with the board of grand officers. The degree staff, in charge of P. G. Charles S. Richardson, worked the third degree on a class of candidates. Speeches were made by G. M. George L. Marshall, D. D. G. M. James J. Simpson, G. I. William Webber, G. W. William M. Walker, G. R. George H. Hartley and A. M. Palmer.

—The Samaritan Society of the First Universalist church met Monday afternoon with Mrs. F. B. Wadleigh, at her home on Swan street. The following officers were elected to serve the coming year: President, Mrs. W. A. Brooks; vice-pres., Mrs. F. B. Wadleigh; secretary, Mrs. John R. Wilkins; treasurer, Mrs. Wm. N. Winn. The chairmen of the different committees will be appointed later by the president and they will select their own helpers.

—James Emery, formerly of Charles-town, passed away Jan. 23d, at his home, 155 Mass. avenue, where the funeral took place on Thursday afternoon, at one-thirty, Rev. Frederic Gill officiating. The remains were cremated at Mr. Auburn and buried at Woodlawn, Everett. Mr. Emery is survived by his widow, Mrs. Emma W. Emery, a son, J. Herbert Emery, of New Jersey, and his daughter, Mrs. Francis S. Bryant, of this town, who is well known and who has many friends who will sympathize with her in this sad loss.

—The next attraction of the Arlington Woman's Club will be its annual reception to the gentlemen. It will take place next Thursday evening, Feb. 1st, in the Unitarian church, at eight o'clock. Dr. E. A. Steiner, a native of Austria and a well known lecturer, who will be remembered as having entertained the club at

Reduction in Price of Electricity

PRELIMINARY NOTICE

In accordance with the recommendation of the Board of Gas and Electric Light Commissioners, this Company announces that, commencing March 1st, 1912, it will reduce its price for electricity, throughout its entire territory, from 11 cents to 10 cents per kilowatt hour.

This reduction in price will favorably affect more than 36,000 of the company's customers.

THE EDISON ELECTRIC ILLUMINATING CO.
OF BOSTON

By CHARLES L. EDGAR,

President.

January 24, 1912.

Spring Vacation Tours

The Ideal Way to Travel All Expenses Included

March 23rd and 30th. Washington, Philadelphia, New York City. Seven days tour, including transportation, State-room Berth going and returning; necessary meals en route except on steamer; 31 days Hotel Expenses Ebbitt House, Washington, and one day (room only) New York City. Expense of tour as outlined. $29.00

April 26th. Washington, Annapolis, Atlantic City, New York. Eight days tour, including transportation expenses as above; 31 days Hotel Expenses Ebbitt House, Washington; 3 Hours at Annapolis, 5 Hours at Philadelphia, 11 days Hotel Expenses Haddon Hall, Atlantic City; 1 day New York City. Expense of tour as outlined. $36.50

All personally conducted by

F. Y. WELLINGTON

Send for circulars

Telephone Connection

ARLINGTON, MASS.

"Come on and hear

" " " " "

Alexander's Ragtime Band"

The lively song hit that's so extremely popular. It's here in both vocal and instrumental form on the Victor, and you shouldn't miss hearing it.

Plenty of other selections you'll enjoy, and we'll gladly play them for you.

Victors $10 to $100. Victor-Victrolas $15 to $200. Terms to suit your convenience.

F. P. DYER

ARLINGTON NEWS AGENCY

ARLINGTON VARIETY STORE

458 Mass. Avenue

SMALL GROCERIES, CANDIES, Etc.

N. J. HARDY'S BAKERY SUPPLIES

AGENTS FOR DAILY PAPERS, MONTHLY MAGAZINES

Books and Stationery

COME IN AND WAIT FOR THE ELECTRIC

M. E. PARKHURST, Manager, and Professional Shopper

one of its meetings one year ago, has been engaged to give a lecture. His subject will be, "The broken wall—studies in race mixture." Music will be given by members of the Medford Symphony Orchestra, with Mrs. Elmer Stevens organist and Mrs. William Marshall pianist. The evening is in charge of the social committee.

—Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Aiken, of China, have been secured to speak before the Young People's Christian Endeavor Society, of the Pleasant Street Congregational church, Sunday night at 7 p. m. Mr. Aiken writes: "I will expect to wear my Chinese costume and speak. Mrs. Aiken will also bring her dress and we will sing one or two hymns in Chinese." An unusually interesting evening is anticipated, and we will welcome anyone to enjoy it with us who cares to come.

—There was a good attendance at the Sunday evening service of the Universalist church on last Sabbath. Owing to a fall on the ice, Prof. Mendall Taylor was unable to be present and fill his engagement as organist, but his place was admirably filled by his daughter, Mrs. Coolidge, who gave organ selections and played for the other artists advertised. They were Mr. Frank E. Kendrick, the well known violinist, and Mr. A. R. Frank, basso of the Commonwealth Avenue Baptist church. The musical selections were greatly enjoyed, especially Mr. Kendrick's playing. Rev. Mr. Mack gave a brief address, taking for his subject, "The Blue Bird," and drawing from its story a lesson for practical, every-day living.

—Valentines! Valentines! All kinds, all prices, at Fred Smith's, watchmaker.

—Mrs. D. P. Green, formerly of this town, died at Usk, England, on Monday.

—The winter meeting of the Frost family was held at Hotel Bellevue, Boston, Tuesday. About fifty guests were present and it proved especially enjoyable to all. This town had several representatives, but three states had delegations.

—The Thursday morning Herald gave three pictures of boys prominent in Arlington High school hockey team. They were "Dave" Buttrick, captain of the

SPECIAL NOTICE

In accordance with provisions of Section 50, Chapter 590, Acts of 1908, notice is hereby given that William G. Peck is president, Henry Bladale, Treasurer and Wilson D. Clark, Jr., Assistant Treasurer, of Arlington Five Cents Savings Bank and that the following named persons are members of the board of investment of said bank for the current year:—William G. Peck, Edward S. Fossenden and George Hill.

Attest:
ARTHUR J. WELLINGTON, Clerk.
Arlington, Mass., Jan. 24, 1912.

PURE MILK

For the sake of your health and family, do not use milk 48 to 60 hours old and containing chemicals to prevent its turning sour; but use fresh, pure Guernsey milk daily from

YATE'S DAIRY,

Arlington, Mass.
Tel. 234 2

team, "Bud" Ross and "Brainy" Bower. The Boston Globe of Wednesday printed a picture of Buttrick and gave an account of the splendid work he has done on the hockey team.

—At the evening service at St. John's Episcopal church, on Sunday, the rector will speak on "The Heart of Christian Worship." There will be the usual service of morning prayer at 10.45 and a celebration of the Holy Communion at 8 a. m.

—The young people of the St. John's Church School are to have a sleigh ride on Friday evening, Jan. 26, if the weather conditions do not interfere. The affair is given under the auspices of the Galsahad Club of boys. Mrs. Wm. Marsden will act as chaperon and the rector accompanies the party.

—The wide circle of friends and acquaintances of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Wellington have been deeply concerned on account of the serious illness of their two children, Damon and Virginia. We are glad to report they are improving, after an illness of four weeks, which has required the services of trained nurses.

—Monday afternoon of this week, Mrs. Harold B. Wood, formerly of this town, gave a children's party at her home, 390 Allen street, Hudson, N. Y., to celebrate the birthdays of her seven year old son, Wm. Parker, and three year old son Leonard, the birthdays occurring on the 20th and 22nd of January. It was a very happy as well as pretty party, the table decorations and favors being in pink and green, and the birthday cake the crowning feature.

—Miss H. Pearl Wilkins, of Arlington, who is studying at the New England Conservatory of Music, was prominent on the programme of a recital given by students at the big music school on Saturday, January 20th. Miss Wilkins is perfecting herself in the pianoforte department and her performance of Chopin's Ballade in A flat major, Op. 47, was marked by excellent technique and expression and won hearty applause from a large audience.

—Mr. Frank Y. Wellington, of this town, has already his circulars out for the spring excursion trips to Washington, Old Point Comfort, Annapolis, Atlantic City, Philadelphia and New York. Mr. Wellington represents the well known and popular tourist firm of Nason-Russell Co., who take care of their patrons with every attention and courtesy, and at a small sum of money, and he will be glad to furnish any information in regard to these several attractive spring trips.

—The "pleasant evening service" at the Universalist church, at 7.30, on Sunday, will be addressed by Mr. Maynard T. Hazen, of the Harvard Law school, on the topic "With Grenfell in Labrador." Mr. Hazen spent the summer of 1909 with the Grenfell Mission and his personal experience will make the address very interesting. The entire silver offering will go to the Mission. It is hoped that all our citizens will assist in making the offering as large as possible.

—Friday evening, Jan. 19, President H. A. Phinney entertained the consultants and staff of the Symmes Arlington Hospital at the Hotel Somerset. Every physician was there; a remarkable occurrence. The table in the private dining room was beautifully decorated with yellow roses, jonquils and maiden hair fern. The dinner was excellent. President Phinney's address was very opportune and contained much of value to those present. He was followed by Dr. E. A. Stevens and the physicians. Many problems in reference to the hospital were profitably discussed. Mr. Phinney is determined that the Symmes Arlington Hospital shall be second to none in the state. Judging from the interest manifested at this meeting, the physicians are bound to do their part to attain this end.

—Charles J. Evans of Cambridge and his daughter, Evelyn, had a narrow escape from serious injury, last Saturday afternoon, while driving on Mystic street. The spirited horse, being driven by Mr. Evans, became frightened at a passing automobile when in front of the Winchester Club and bolted. The sleigh was overturned and the occupants spilled out. Mr. Evans was dragged some distance in attempting to stop the horse and was bruised considerably, but his daughter escaped injury. The horse finally freed himself from Mr. Evans who had held on to the reins, and ran toward Winchester, where he was captured by Frank R. Tompison of Somerville. The sleigh righted itself after the horse had run a short distance so that it was damaged only slightly and the horse escaped without injury.

—Arlington & Belmont Ice Co. have their ice all harvested to the amount of some fifteen thousand tons. The ice has, of course, been taken from Spy Pond and averages from twelve to fourteen inches in thickness. It is of superlative quality, in fact, the statement is made that it is the best the company has ever cut off of Spy. The Cambridge Ice Co., which also has privileges on this pond, are still cutting. The houses at the foot of Linwood street are all filled. On Saturday the work of filling the new house on the south, or Belmont side of the pond, will be begun. This house is a new one of the most approved type and has a capacity greatly in excess of the other houses. The company plan to harvest forty thousand tons, sixteen of which are already stored in the Linwood street houses.

—Sickness and other engagements somewhat depleted the attendance at the annual "Ladies' Night" of the Universalist Men's Club, held at the church, on Wednesday evening. However, the attendance was sufficient to make the evening a success and agreeable in all respects. Pres. Wm. G. Bott presided and introduced the events of the occasion. The most important of these was an ad-

Woman's World

Mrs. Wilson Woodrow Says
Editors Aren't Prejudiced.

MRS. WILSON WOODROW.

To many readers of Mrs. Wilson Woodrow's breezy stories that from time to time appear in the popular magazines it will be a surprise to learn that the author is a slight young woman with curly blond hair and altogether feminine in manner and appearance. The vigor, breadth and masculine viewpoint of her stories have caused many persons to imagine the author was a man masquerading under a feminine pen name. But Mrs. Wilson Woodrow is really the name of this very clever little lady. Her husband and Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey are cousins, named after uncles with the surname of Wilson and Woodrow, respectively, and the Christian names Thomas and James, and when the boys grew up the author's husband dropped the James and Woodrow Wilson dropped the Thomas. So Mrs. Woodrow can't help her name nor the fact that she's a woman.

When Mrs. Woodrow was asked to account for the masculine viewpoint in her writings she replied: "I was brought up in a family which included more men than women, which taught me perhaps to handle my male characters in a fashion true to life. I am not a college graduate," she continued. "I never went to school even. When I wanted to learn anything and said so I had teachers provided at home."

Before going to New York city ten years ago from her home in southern Ohio Mrs. Woodrow had written no fiction, and her first short story, whose scene was laid in a mining camp, was submitted to a New York newspaper syndicate, and a check for $100 was sent to her two days later for the story, with the request from the same firm for a series of stories based on mining camp life.

The same week Mrs. Woodrow sent a humorous sketch to a society magazine, which was accepted with a request for more copy of the same character.

This was the start, and the dainty little authoress thought the letters so wonderful that they found a place of honor as a decoration on her study wall.

Mrs. Woodrow thinks that "pull" has nothing whatever to do with the placing of manuscripts and as for personality influencing editors and publishers it had nothing to do with the acceptance of her stories as her stuff was sold before she had met the editors.

When asked recently if she intended to confine herself to short story writing, Mrs. Woodrow answered: "Oh, dear, no. I feel as if I had just begun to work—as if I have just started out. My best work, I hope, is to come, and this, I think, will be expressed in long stories. For one thing, novels pay the better. One puts almost as many ideas and as much work into a short story as into a novel and for a comparatively small return." The following is how Mrs. Woodrow's days are spent when a long story is being written:

"I cut out social pleasures almost entirely—that is, anything likely to distract my thoughts from the main trend. I don't go to the theater, for instance, nor to teas or dinners, nor to entertainments where I shall meet and talk with a lot of people. I can't stand play at such times. I get better results by working steadily when I work and playing only when my work is done. Of course I don't mean that I write all day long. I get to work early, soon after 7 o'clock, and stay at my desk till 1 o'clock or so, doing perhaps 2,500 words. After lunch I walk, motor or do something that doesn't distract my thoughts too much. I wish flying machines were in fashion, for it seems to me that would be an ideal secluded way to take pleasure and exercise at the same time. When I come home I may work a couple of hours more, going over proofs or revising something already written, but I don't resume work on my story until the next morning."

The Rev. Dr. Anna Howard Shaw is said to have preached in more countries than any other woman in the ministry. Besides this country, Dr. Shaw has preached in England, Germany, Sweden, Denmark and Holland.

MODERN FREE ANIMAL HOSPITAL AND OFFICE BUILDING

Memorial to Be Erected in Boston by Mass. S. P. C. A., to George Thorndike Angell—Pioneer Protector of Animals—85,000 Bands of Mercy Interested.

PRESIDENT ROWLEY ASKS FOR $1,000,000 ENDOWMENT

MEMORIAL BUILDING TO GEORGE T. ANGELL.

FOUNDER AND PRESIDENT FOR FORTY YEARS OF THE MASSACHUSETTS SOCIETY FOR THE PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO ANIMALS. FOUNDER OF THE AMERICAN HUMANE EDUCATION SOCIETY, AND THE BAND OF MERCY MOVEMENT IN AMERICA, NOW EMBRACING OVER 3,000,000 MEMBERS ALSO FOUNDER OF "OUR DUMB ANIMALS," THE FIRST PAPER OF ITS KIND IN THE WORLD AND JOINT-FOUNDER OF THE ILLINOIS, WISCONSIN, LOUISIANA, FLORIDA, MINNEAPOLIS, SARATOGA, CALIFORNIA, HARTFORD, DETROIT, WASHINGTON, D. C., AND MANY OTHER HUMANE SOCIETIES.

A hospital for animals is soon to be erected in Boston by the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals as a fitting memorial to the late George T. Angell.

DR. FRANCIS H. ROWLEY, PRESIDENT MASS. S. P. C. A., PRESIDENT PARENT BAND OF MERCY, PRESIDENT AMERICAN HUMANE EDUCATION SOCIETY, WHO IS GIVING DIRECTION TO THESE GREAT ENTERPRISES AS MR. ANGELL'S SUCCESSOR.

Founder and for nearly half a century president of the Society. Already interest in the great humanitarian project is actively manifest not only throughout the state of Massachusetts, where Mr. Angell built up and directed one of the most efficient and energetic anti-cruelty organizations in the world, but wherever human hearts beat in sympathy with those principles which he so widely promulgated, namely, "kindness, justice and mercy to every living creature."

Under the direction of President Francis H. Rowley of the Society a site has been purchased and plans for the building rapidly developed by Messrs. Putnam and Cox, architects, Boston.

The hospital is to be located near the intersection of Huntington and Longwood avenues upon a lot containing 24,000 square feet of land with a frontage of 160 and a depth of 150 feet. It is believed that this location will afford every advantage to the Society to carry on its multifarious interests all combined under one roof. The site chosen seems in many respects ideal. The Hospital will stand in the same beautiful section of the city with the Art Museum, the Grand Opera House, the splendid group of the new million dollar buildings of the Y. M. C. A., and the large number of noble hospitals either already finished or in the course of construction. In five years this will be the greatest hospital center on the face of the globe.

The plans as submitted by the architects are for a structure of brown sandstone and brick to be serviceable as well as ornamental and in harmony with the architecture of the other splendid edifices in that neighborhood.

The ground floor will be entered by a broad driveway leading under a spacious Roman arch at the front of the building to an interior paved court 50 by 80 feet, with a large fountain in the center. Around this enclosure there will be offices for the Society's large force of agents, medical and surgical wards, a contagious department, operating and clinical rooms, tank space and ambulance garage.

Upon the second floor will be the general headquarters of both the Massachusetts S. P. C. A. and the American Humane Education Society with offices of the president, secretary and treasurer, and editorial rooms of Our Dumb Animals, the Society's widely known monthly publication; also superintendent's apartments, library and consulting room, storeroom for feed, laboratory and private wards for small animals.

The third or upper floor will contain directors' room, publishing and mailing departments, ample space for displaying, storing and shipping the humane books and other literature which the American Humane Education Society sends out to the four corners of the world. The larger portion of the flat roof adjoining this floor will be used as exercise yards for animal patients.

The best methods of sanitation and ventilation will be installed and when the structure shall have been completed no appliance, equipment or facility will be lacking to make it the foremost animal hospital in the world and a worthy memorial to the life and work of George T. Angell.

While the influence of the Society in the prevention of cruelty is felt throughout the length and breadth of Massachusetts by the presence in nearly every city and town of one or more representatives, the Society believes that the time is at hand when it must enter a larger field and there relieve the sufferings of animals that are caused so often by cruelty and misuse as well as by accident. With this purpose in view the Memorial Hospital will strive not to save old worn-out and worthless animals, for it believes that unless these deserving servants of man are provided for in their old age or decrepitude by their

As yet the Society is not in possession of sufficient means to start actual building operations. It has however entered upon a campaign for owners, it were better that they be humanely put to death. The aim rather of the institution will be to restore to normal health and usefulness those animals, whether owned by rich or poor, which sickness, accident or disease may temporarily disable. Hence the same care and treatment that are provided in hospitals for human beings will here be extended to those animals that possess a real value, either because of the money they represent, or the affection of their owners.

GEORGE THORNDIKE ANGELL, WHOSE UNTIRING WORK FOR FIFTY YEARS SO GREATLY ADVANCED THE HUMANE MOVEMENT IN AMERICA.

FRONT PAGE OF "OUR DUMB ANIMALS," OLDEST AND MOST WIDELY CIRCULATED HUMANE MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD. EVERY SUBSCRIBER HELPS THE DUMB ANIMALS' CAUSE.

TYPE OF ANIMAL AUTO AMBULANCE EMPLOYED BY THE MASSACHUSETTS SOCIETY FOR THE PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

AT THE ELEVENTH HOUR.

A Message That Changed the Course of Events.

By BEATRICE STURGES.

Everything in the room betokened confusion and busy preparation for some event of considerable importance. A pile of notes just finished lay on the desk; two trunks, one already strapped and the other standing open, indicated a journey; several frocks occupied the bed, piles of lingerie filled the chairs, various other feminine belongings were scattered about and a maid was hastily transferring them to the open trunk and the new hand bag which stood on a table. Now and again she addressed some question to the girl who still sat at the desk and who answered in monosyllables and with a preoccupied air.

"Oh, put in or leave out whatever you like, Marie. It doesn't make a bit of difference!" she exclaimed at last impatiently.

Marie, wondering within, obeyed, but presently she came forward with something which she begged mademoiselle to try on.

"Truly, it must be seen if it is what you call all right," she protested, and the girl rose and walked to the mirror. She was wearing a long, loose gown of yellow silk, and her nut brown hair was caught up loosely on her head. Marie stepped in front of her for a moment, did a little adjusting and patting this way and that and then stepped back with voluble expressions of admiration.

The girl looked into the glass as if in a dream, and then her heart throbbed painfully. She had put off the full realization of what she was about to do and lived in a vague hope that something would happen to stop it, but now as she looked in the mirror and saw herself at last enveloped in the white mist of a wedding veil the bitter truth came home. The bridal symbol, so sweet and lovely in itself, became suddenly hateful to her, for in all its frailty it brought to her the stern realization that the next day at noon in St. John's church she, Lucy Rutherford, was to be married to a man she did not love.

How different, oh, how different it might have been!

She tore off her veil and threw herself on the bed in a passion of tears. She never would do it, she told herself over and over; she never could do it! What did she care if Marie did see? The whole world might see! It could see tomorrow, and they all could have their presents back—she didn't care. It didn't make any difference what her stepmother said or did or threatened—she could marry him herself. But, as for Lucy, she simply hated Hugh Goring all at once, and she never wanted to see him again.

She sat up presently and bathed her eyes in the water the discreet Marie brought to her and felt better. Then as the maid turned again to her packing Lucy thought miserably of a certain night six months ago when she had quarreled so bitterly with Ralph Anderson and he had left her presence without one backward look and a very vicious slam of the door. Oh, how foolish and trivial a lovers' quarrel seems when six months have gone by! Lucy knew that if she and Ralph once looked into each other's eyes again it must and would be all right once more. But how was this to happen? In the heat and suddenness of his wrath Ralph had rushed away to the vague and indefinite wilds of Texas, and Lucy never knew whether he received that little note she sent him the morning after their quarrel. She had said only: "Dear Ralph—if you are sorry, I am too. Lucy."

Anyhow he never replied, and maybe by this time he was already in love with some horse riding girl in Texas, while she was supposed to be making her last joyful preparations for marrying another man.

"Oh, well," she had said to herself, "a girl has to do something."

She rose and went over to the desk again, where from a secret hiding place she drew a photograph—a snapshot of an athletic young man in tennis flannels, with a racket in his hand and a bright smile on his face. Her eyes filled with tears as she kissed it and murmured, "My sweetheart, I shall always love you."

While her lips still pressed the picture a sharp ring startled her.

"You answer it, Marie. It's probably the caterer or somebody asking about tomorrow. Tell them Mrs. Rutherford is out and to call up in the morning."

The surprised maid, knowing well that Mrs. Rutherford was in, stepped out into the hall to answer the telephone. In a moment she returned.

"It was for you, mademoiselle—a gentleman who insisted—so I have turned the switch."

Lucy sat down again at the desk and took up the receiver.

"Yes, this is Miss Rutherford."

The voice at the other end of the wire was strangely familiar. It made her cheeks burn, her heart throb and her eyes shine. She almost dropped the receiver.

"Why, Ralph!" she exclaimed.

Again the voice spoke rapidly.

"Yes," she replied, "it is a little late for a call."

"What's that? Wanted to answer my note? Well, you've had lots of time to do it in."

"Oh, just received it today? I wrote it six months ago."

"I don't think much of the way they take care or mail at your club, out—

"Well, I hope it's all right now; but you see—well, it's kind of hard to explain things over a telephone."

"Tomorrow? I'm afraid I'll be busy tomorrow."

"What makes my voice sound so queer? Oh, I don't know. I meant that I had an engagement for tomorrow—until a little while ago. By the way, you didn't say what your answer to the note was."

"Really? And you did think of me while you were gone? And you still care?"

"I should think my note told you that. Of course I do. I never stopped. 'Oh,' faintly, 'you heard just now about tomorrow? Well, I'm not, I'm not. I made up my mind ten minutes before you called up, and when the bell rang I was—I'll tell you when I see you.'"

"Right away? Why, it's after 10 o'clock."

"Any chances? What on earth do you mean?"

"Ralph, I never heard of such a thing!"

"Yes, I suppose I could. Of course I'd bring Marie. You're sure it's the only way?"

"Yes, the bishop's sure to be at home."

"All right, then—in half an hour, when we see the carriage turn in front of the house."

"Yes, sweetheart, I do, I do! And I don't care if central does hear."

The receiver was hung up with a rush. Miss Rutherford flew to the door after the wildly curious Marie, who had been listening outside in the hall to every word, and pulled her in.

"Hurry, hurry, Marie! Just the bag; never mind the trunk. That can wait. Where's my brown suit?"

"But, mademoiselle!"

"That's all right—you're coming too. Here! Wait till I write a note to Mrs. Rutherford. It's too bad for her to miss the show, but she will probably console Mr. Goring without any trouble."

She looked around the room and then at the bag where Marie had stowed everything necessary. From the window she saw a large carriage slowly approaching.

"Marie, Marie!" she exclaimed. "Put this in that big box and bring it along." In her eagerness she lifted the dainty mass of white satin and lace and the filmy veil. The maid opened her lips to protest and then tied up the package.

"Goodness!" exclaimed Lucy as they started down the stairs. "Did you think I could get married without my wedding dress?"

Outside in the carriage Ralph was impatiently waiting.

Ancient Mirrors.

We are indebted for our mirrors to the ancient Egyptians. At first they were made of metal, so well compounded and polished that some recently dug up from Thebes have regained a wonderful luster after burial for thousands of years. Oval in shape, they were fastened to carved wooden handles. References are made to such looking glasses in Exodus and Job. The Greeks and Romans made similar mirrors of silver. Pliny says that the earliest glass mirrors were made of black volcanic glass. Through the middle ages glass backed with thin metallic sheets came into use, and "bullseyes," or glass globes into which while hot a metallic mixture was blown for backing. At Murano, near Venice, in the thirteenth century the republic protected the trade and jealously guarded its secrets, securing a lucrative business for a century and a half. Mirrors were then made from cylinders of glass flattened on stone, carefully polished, beveled at the edges and silvered by an amalgam.

Finger Nails.

The nail is a special modification of the cuticle, the superficial cells being harder, more horny and more firmly adherent to each other than in the proper skin. The deep layer of the skin is peculiarly modified to form the bed of the nail, is highly vascular and is studded with almost parallel ridges, the true skin overlapping the sides and root of the nail, which fits into the groove, as a watch glass into its rim. The surfaces of all these ridges are covered with growing cells which as they flatten and change into horn form one solid curved plate, the nail. Nails grow both in thickness and length. The increase in thickness is caused by the formation of nerve cells on the bed of the nail; the increase in length, through the formation of new folds at the hinder part of the bed. The nail, thus constantly receiving additions from below and from behind, is slowly pushed forward over its bed till it projects beyond the end of the finger and is cut off at intervals or worn away.

A Scotch Bugaboo.

Nurses and parents do not frighten children so much nowadays with foolish stories as they did a generation or two ago. Children are not terrified into "being good." But in the remoter country places this objectionable and dangerous form of tyranny still lingers. In parts of Scotland the bodach still has his terrors for youngsters. The chief of these specters is "The Son of Platter pool from gray spike, silver spike, great caterpillar." There is almost a Shakespearean suggestion about the name. This terrific bugbear peers in at windows, flattens his wicked face against the pane, sharpens his teeth with murderous distinctness and carries away crying or noisy children in a twinkling. But he never enters a house without being called. The threat to summon him is enough, and the unhappy child goes to bed quietly to brood over nameless terrors in the dark.—London Chronicle

THE CZARINA'S DREAM.

It Brought Her Warning of a Day of Riot and Bloodshed.

It is perhaps scarcely surprising to learn that the Russian imperial family are very superstitious, for the history of the czar's throne teems with legends and stories of the supernatural. At the same time, however, many people possess the idea that the czarina is a cold, unemotional woman. As a matter of fact, according to the author of "Recollections of a Society Clairvoyant," the czarina suffers from the overcharged psychic atmosphere which surrounds her.

She firmly believes in dreams and often relates the following incident to prove the truth of her theory: She was resting one afternoon and had fallen asleep when she was awakened by one of her ladies, who was alarmed at the way the czarina cried and moaned in her sleep. The empress then said she had been troubled by a bad dream. An old moujik, covered with blood, had appeared to her and exclaimed, "I have come all the way from Siberia to see your day of honor, and now your Cossacks have killed me!"

The dream was so vivid that the empress sent to know if any misfortune had occurred that day, but the czar laughed at her apprehensions, and to ease her mind he telephoned to the minister of the household. From him came the news of the terrible riot, which resulted in the loss of over 2,000 lives, the catastrophe being aggravated by the attempts of the mounted Cossacks to restore order by riding into the crowd and using their whips and swords against the terrified moujiks.

PILOTS AT PANAMA.

A Question That Concerns the Safety of Our Great Canal.

Exhaustive thought and experiment have been expended upon measures and mechanical contrivances to guard against accidents in the operation of the canal. It is the belief of the chief engineer that these precautions should be extended to embrace the possibility of damage by design. "What," he said in conversation with the writer, "is to prevent a merchant or naval vessel of a foreign nation from deliberately ramming our works under pretense of a mistake on the bridge or in the engine room?"

It is to obviate such a contingency that a section of the bill confers upon the management of the canal authority to take charge of all vessels entering the waterway and to place a pilot on board of each, with entire control of navigation during its passage.

It is believed that masters of merchant vessels would welcome the relief from responsibility to be secured by such a measure and that owners and insurers would find in it a protection by reason of the ready location of claims for damages that might be incurred in transit. On the other hand, every commander of a naval vessel, whether of the United States or a foreign power, may be expected to resist it.

Nevertheless it is considered a necessary military precaution and one that, if provided for by present congressional action, will create less offense than it would as an emergency measure in time of war.—American Review of Reviews.

Telephone Talks and Lawsuits.

Telephone conversation is likely to play an important part in lawsuits and criminal action at law with the perfecting of an apparatus by Professor P. Perotti, by means of which a permanent record can be kept of the words spoken over the telephone. Professor Perotti's telephone receiver is composed of two loud speaking telephones. One of these is furnished with the usual mouthpiece, the other is connected with the vibrating membrane of a Pathe phonograph. The phonograph record can be made to reproduce the speech in the usual manner.

Belgian State Railways.

Belgium enjoys the distinction of having been the first continental nation to establish a railway. The pioneer line between Malines and Brussels was opened in 1835, and now, out of a total of 2,800 miles of track in the country, the state is the owner of 2,530 miles, its system, proportionately to area, being the largest in the world. The Belgian government also maintains its own steamship service between Dover and Ostend, and its fleet has always included the fastest channel steamships.—Railway Magazine.

Monster Spider Web of Rope.

The largest spider web in the world was strung not by a spider, but by human hands. It stands on the lawn of a Chicago man's country home. The creator of this oddity conceived the idea of attempting to see how nearly an actual spider's web could be reproduced with rope. Selecting two immense trees on the lawn of his home, he spun between them this spider's web, 40 by 60 feet, which is so strong that a man may easily climb to the center or top of it.—Milwaukee Journal.

A Lee Memorial.

The Baltimore Sun reports that a plan to purchase the Baltimore home of General Robert E. Lee as a memorial to him and to the women of the south is meeting with popular support. Speaker Champ Clark has written a letter to Dr. H. M. Wharton, who is leading the movement, commending it highly. Ex-President Roosevelt says that he "approves the project and would like to take part in any memorial to General Lee." The Sun says the success of the plans seems assured.

For the Children

Clear the Road; the Coaster is Coming.

Courtesy of St. Nicholas.

These are jolly days for the young folks who live where Jack Frost and the snow king hold sway. Brooks and ponds are icebound, and the hills and fields glisten under their covering of snow. What sport to strap on skates and skim like a bird over the glassy ice or to climb the hills and coast like a meteor to the valley below, like the joyous lad in the picture. "Clear the road; I'm coming!" he shouts, and you may be sure his comrades give him plenty of room. It is no joke to be bumped by a boy laden sled whizzing down a steep incline. Then comes the fun of mounting up again to repeat the exhilarating dash. Roses glow in cheeks, and despite the hilarious enjoyment, dinner time seems long a-coming. Summer sports are fine in their season, but now they seem tame in comparison with the glorious fun made possible by ice and snow.

Here Goes Up For Monday.

This game requires seven players, each choosing a name of one of the days of the week. The players stand facing a high solid wall. "Sunday" takes a rubber ball and, throwing it high against the wall, calls out, "Here goes up for —," any day of the week being mentioned. The player whose name has been called must immediately run forward and catch the ball before it reaches the ground; the other players running away. If the ball is caught it is thrown against the wall by the catcher, and he, in his turn, calls a name. When the player fails to catch the ball he misses a point, or an "egg," as it is called. He must then pick up the ball and throw it at another player. If one is hit, that player also loses an egg and has in his turn to throw the ball against the wall. If, however, the player who throws the ball at the other player fails to hit him he must throw the ball against the wall himself. The loss of three "eggs" puts the player "out." The last one having an egg left wins the game.

The Jealous Deer.

Deer are sensitive animals and capable of all phases of affection, jealousy included. Judge Catron of Illinois has a fine deer park, and of the drove one named Frank is especially friendly. He follows his keeper as a dog would do and manifests every sign of affection. One day another deer was brought into the park and the keeper in a short time had made quite a pet of it. Frank immediately grew sullen and in a few days could stand it no longer. First he charged upon the deer, knocking it down, and when the keeper interfered Frank turned upon him, and there was a lively battle for a few minutes. The other men came to the rescue, and Frank was beaten off and put in a small yard by himself. In the end the newcomer had to be sent away, and then Frank became as amiable as before.

Water Ball.

Water ball is the most interesting outdoor game that you could imagine, and it is quite exciting too. First a washtub is placed in the center of the lawn and filled half full of water. Then nine nice round potatoes are selected (rubber or baseballs may be used if preferred or even croquet balls). Then a line is marked with sticks or little stones ten paces from the bucket. The players stand in a row along the line, and each one in turn tries to toss his potato into the tub. Every potato that falls into the water counts one for the owner. Each one keeps his own count. When nine potatoes have been thrown they are fished out of the tub, and the players line up and toss over again. The first one who succeeds in putting twenty-one potatoes into the tub wins the game.

Origin of the Thimble.

The thimble was at first worn on the thumb and for that reason was called a thumb bell, which later became thimble and finally thimble. It was invented by the Dutch and introduced in England in 1635. The first thimbles were made of iron or brass. Later came those of silver, gold, steel, horn, ivory, pearl and glass. The Chinese make beautiful thimbles of carved pearl, with gold binding and ends. One of the most gorgeous thimbles ever seen was a bridal gift from the king of Siam to his queen. It was made of gold, shaped like a lotus bud and was thickly studded with diamonds, arranged so as to spell the queen's name.

Write Is Right.

Write, we know, is written right. When we see it written w-r-i-t-e. But when we see it written r-i-g-h-t. We know it is not written right. But write, to have it written right. Must not be written r-i-g-h-t or w-r-i-t-e. Nor yet must it be written w-r-i-g-h-t. But w-r-i-t-e. For so 'tis written right.

CRIMINALS IN FRANCE.

Curious Devices Used to Land Them Safely in Jail.

Scarcely a day passes without a picture appearing in the French press of a prisoner being led off to the station by a policeman and the description, "the Apache being taken away handcuffed by the agents." As a matter of fact, handcuffs are altogether out of date in France and are never used.

Instead of the bracelets every policeman carries a "cabriolet," which is a very rough and massively made article resembling a huge watch chain some ten inches long with a stout wooden crossbar at either end. An expert can slip this over the wrist of an offender in a twinkling and with both the crossbars in his hand has only to give it a twist to inflict the most excruciating pain and compel instant and lamblike submission.

Another common method of preventing escape is to make the prisoner place both his hands in his side trouser pockets and then pass a string around his wrists and around his waist and bid him march. He can walk at a very smart pace, but any attempt to run out of a shambling trot immediately brings him down, nose to the pavement.

If no string is handy all the brace buttons of the trousers are cut off and the culprit is made again to put his hands in his pockets. As in the former case, he can only walk, since so soon as he frees his hands his nether garments fall about his legs and he is "entrave."

Few of these devices are apparent to the casual passerby, who often wonders at the passive docility with which some villainous looking individual under arrest follows his captor to the station. Sometimes on a country road one may meet a couple of gendarmes on foot or on horseback, leading a prisoner between them.

This is in obedience to a quaint regulation whereby prisoners are never sent by train from place to place, as there are no funds set apart for railway fares. Consequently four or five times as much is spent in food, drink and lodging for the escort as would be for the ticket, but the regulations are observed. In such cases the police often use the "poucettes," though strictly speaking this instrument is not legal.

It is a sort of loose thumbscrew, which is fixed so as to keep the two thumbs comfortably together so long as the man does not struggle, but a twist of the string held by one of the police is enough to destroy any wish to escape.—London Standard.

"Mad Anthony" Wayne.

The nickname of "Mad Anthony" attached to the name of General Wayne of Revolutionary fame was due to no trace of insanity, but instead to the man's wild, reckless courage in plunging into battle where the odds against him seemed hopeless. He had other nicknames too. "Dandy Wayne" was one of them, because of his absurd love for wearing fine clothes in the wilderness and in battle. The Indians gave him the nickname of "Black Snake" from the swift and deadliness of his attack. At the outbreak of the Revolutionary war Sir Henry Clinton said of Wayne: "Wherever Mad Anthony Wayne is there's always a fight. That's what he is there for." And Clinton had sufficient experience to know whereof he spoke.

Our Climate an Asset.

On no other continent, under no other sun, in no other zone, in all the world, can be found the same extent of fertile, available agricultural land as in these United States. And in no other equally large tract as that stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific and between the great lakes and the gulf can be duplicated the same amount of normally good weather as nature has bestowed on this favored land. Our rain and sunshine are so proportioned the one to the other as to produce the best yearly conditions on earth.—Detroit Free Press.

An All Around Sermon.

A sermon had been preached in a cathedral, and some of the clergy who had been present were discussing it at the bishop's luncheon table. One said: "Was not that sermon a little 'high'?" "High?" exclaimed another. "It struck me as being decidedly 'low.' " "Well now," put in an orthodox cleric of the old school, "I should have described it as rather 'broad.' " What do you say bishop? "I," replied the prelate, "thought it was rather 'long.' "

Most Furs Wear Long With Cars.

Most furs are durable, experts say, and will last for a long time if guarded from moths, high temperatures and spring sunshine. A less durable fur is broadtail, as it is taken from young animals. Chinchilla and ermine are also delicate, both in color and texture, and should be carefully treated. Places that make a specialty of storing furs keep them at a uniform winter temperature.—New York Sun.

An Explanation.

Church—What is an optimist? Gotham—A man who believes everything comes to him who waits. "And if he waits and nothing comes to him what is he?" "Why, he's a fool."—Yonkers Statesman.

She Advised.

He—I'm in love with a charming girl, and I'd like to ask your advice. She—I'm willing to help you all I can. He—Well, would you advise me to propose to you?

Pessimism is productive of paralysis and stagnation.

ARLINGTON SOCIETIES, CHURCHES, Etc.

ARLINGTON CO-OPERATIVE BANK. Warren A. Pierce, pres.; Chas. H. Stevens, sec. Meetings: O. W. Whittemore, treasurer. Meetings in banking rooms of First National Bank, first Tuesday in each month, at 7:30 p. m. Money offered at auction at 8:30 p. m.

ARLINGTON FIVE-CENT SAVINGS BANK. Bank Building, corner Massachusetts avenue and Pleasant street. Will C. Peck, president; H. Bladale, sec. and treas. Open daily from 3 to 5:30 p. m.; Wednesday and Saturday evenings from 7 to 9 p. m.

ARLINGTON BOAT CLUB. Meetings first Monday in each month at Club House on margin of Spy Pond. Admission fee $10; annual dues, $15.

ARLINGTON FILANCE CLUB. Meetings by invitation fourth Tuesday in each month.

A. O. H., DIV. 23. Meetings in Hibernian Hall, corner Mystic and Chestnut streets, first and third Tuesdays of each month at 7:30 p. m.

A. O. U. W., CIRCLE LODGE NO. 77. Meetings first and third Fridays of each month at Crescent Hall, A. H., at 8 p. m.

JAMES RAY COLE LODGE, NO. 160. Knights of Pythias. Meetings first and third Tuesdays in I. O. O. F. Hall.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK. E. Nelson Blake, president; John A. Easton, cashier. Corner Massachusetts avenue and Pleasant street. Open daily from 8 a. m. to 3 p. m.; on Wednesday and Saturday evenings from 7 to 8:30.

FIRE DEPARTMENT. Hose No. 1, on Park avenue; Hose No. 2, on Massachusetts avenue; Hose No. 3, on Broadway; Chemical, on Massachusetts avenue.

F. A. M., HIRAM LODGE. Meetings in Masonic Hall, corner Massachusetts avenue and Medford street, Thursday on or before the full moon.

FORESTERS OF AMERICA. Court Pride, of Arlington. Meetings in Adelphi Hall and at 4th Mondays of each month at 8 o'clock.

I. O. O. F., BETHEL LODGE, NO. 12. Meetings in Odd Fellows' Hall, Bank Building, every Wednesday evening, at 8.

IDA F. BUTLER REBEKAH LODGE NO. 152. Meetings first and third Monday evenings of each month in Bethel Lodge Room.

MENTOMY R. A. CHAPTER. Meetings third Tuesday of each month in Masonic Hall.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS, NO. 109. Meetings second and fourth Thursdays of each month in K. of C. Hall, 9 Mystic street.

ST. AGNES CATHOLIC, NO. 141. Daughters of Isabella. Meetings in K. of C. Hall, Mystic Street, second and fourth Mondays.

ROBBINS PUBLIC LIBRARY. Open daily, except Sunday, from 10:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. Children's Room, 10:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. Sundays, for readers only, 3:30 to 5 p. m. Closed on holidays.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS BRANCH. Open Tuesdays and Saturdays from 10:00 to 7:00 p. m. Thursdays, 3:00 to 7:00 p. m.

ROYAL ARCANUM. Meetings first and third Fridays of each month in G. A. R. Hall, 370 Mass. ave., at 8 p. m.

TOWN OFFICERS. Selectmen meet at their office in Town Hall on the 2d and 4th Mondays with the Joint Board. On the 8th week they meet on Saturday evening.

Board of Public Works, each Monday evening at 7:30. Joint Board, and 4th Mondays at 7:30. Town Clerk and Treasurer, office hours, 9 a. m. to 12 m.; 2 to 5 p. m. Collector office hours, Mondays, 7 to 9 p. m. Saturdays, 9 a. m. to 12 m. only.

Board of Health, last Friday of each month at 7:30 p. m. Engineers Fire Department, Saturday before last Monday, each month. School Committee, third Tuesday evening monthly. Trustees of Cemetery, on call of chairman. Board of Assessors, every Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

WOMEN'S C. T. UNION. Meetings in Chapel of First Baptist Church, first and third Tuesdays of each month.

UNITED ORDER I. O. L. Golden Rule Lodge No. 51. Meetings in G. A. R. Hall the first and third Tuesday evenings in each month.

RAY STATE L. O. L. NO. 418. Meetings in Grand Army Hall, second and fourth Monday in each month.

U. O. G. C. Paul Revere Commandery No. 831. Meetings first and 3d Monday of each month, at 8 p. m., in Knights of Columbus Hall.

Churches and church services.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL PARISH.

(Unitarian.) Corner Massachusetts avenue and Pleasant street. Rev. Frederic Gill, minister, 29 Academy st. Sunday morning service at 10; Sunday school at noon, except during July and August. Evening service on the second Sunday of each month, from November to March, inclusive, at seven o'clock.

ARLINGTON FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH. Massachusetts avenue corner Willow place. Sunday services at 10:30 a. m.; Sunday school at noon; V. P. S. C. E. meeting at 6:45 p. m. Rev. Nathan E. Wood, D. D., minister.

ORTHODOX CONGREGATIONAL. Corner Pleasant and Maple streets. Rev. Samuel C. Russell, pastor; residence on Maple street, opposite the church. Sunday services at 10:45 a. m.; V. P. S. C. E. at 6:30 p. m.; Sunday school at noon, except during July and August; Friday evenings, at 7:30, social service in vestry.

FIRST UNIVERSALIST. Massachusetts avenue, opposite Academy street. Rev. Frank Lincoln Massack, pastor, 43 Gray street. Sunday services in the morning at 10:45; Sunday school at noon, except during July and August; Sunday, Y. P. Union at 7:00 p. m.

ST. AGNES, CATHOLIC. Corner Medford and Chestnut streets. Rev. John M. Kinn, Rector. 82 a. m. Holy Communion; (except 1st Sunday in the month) 1:30 Church School; 4:45 Morning Prayer; 7:30 Evening Prayer; Holy Communion at 10:45 on 1st Sundays; Litany on Third Sundays; Holy Communion on Saints' Day at 9 a. m.

PARK AVENUE CHURCH. (Orth. Congregational.) Cor. Park and Willow avenues, Arlington Heights. Rev. John G. Taylor, pastor. Sunday morning service at 10:45; Sunday school at 12:10; V. P. S. C. E. meeting at 6:30 p. m.; Sunday after noon at 3:30, Junior C. E. meeting; Thursday evening at 8 o'clock prayer meeting.

BAPTIST CHURCH, ARLINGTON HEIGHTS. Cor. Park and Westminister Avenues. Rev. D. T. Wyman, minister. Sunday services: Morning worship, 10:45 a. m.; Bible school at noon; Junior C. E., 4 p. m.; Senior C. E., 6 p. m.; evening worship, 7 p. m. Praise and testimonial service Friday evening at 7:45. A hearty welcome extended to all without charge to church home to worship with us. Pastor's residence, 34 Hall Avenue, West Somerville, Mass.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL. Corner of Lowell street and Westminister Avenue, Arlington Heights. Preaching, Sunday, 10:45 a. m.; Sunday school, 12 noon; praise and prayer service, 6:15 p. m.; preaching, 7:30 p. m. Rev. Leonard Chubb, Minister, 3 Crescent Hill avenue.

TRINITY BAPTIST CHURCH. Mass. ave., Arlington, near Teale St. Rev. York A. King, B. D., Minister; residence 18 Magnolia St. Sunday services:—Morning prayer 10:00, Worship and Sermon 10:30, Sunday school 11:45, Young People's Meeting 4 p. m., Evening Service and Sermon 7 p. m. Weekly prayer service Thursday evening 7:45 p. m.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH, LEXINGTON. Pastor, Rev. Samuel A. Knowles. Residence, Massachusetts Avenue. Preaching, 10:30 a. m.; evening service at 7 o'clock.

CHURCH OF OUR REDEEMER. Merriam street, Lexington. Morning service at eleven o'clock. All welcome.

ORDER OF EASTERN STAR. Longfellow Chapter 117, meets in G. A. R. Hall the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month.

G. A. R., FRANCIS GOULD POST, 36. Meetings in G. A. R. Hall, Massachusetts avenue, second and fourth Thursdays of each month, at 8 o'clock p. m. W. R. C., No. 43, meets on afternoons of same dates, at same place, at 2 p. m.

S. A. F. CAMP 45. Meetings in G. A. R. Hall, on the first and third Monday of each month, at eight o'clock.

WHAT MONKEYS THINK.

Iconoclastic Remarks by an Anti-nature Faker.

We are told in all seriousness as well as in a Philadelphia journal that a Pennsylvania scientist has taught several chimpanzees to think.

Why the professor thinks the chimpanzees think is not as clear as he thinks he makes it. Persons familiar with the chimpanzee nature are not enthusiastic over the discovery.

Tony Sludge of Sludge & Sienlmen, genteel clowning, even goes so far as to say "Hosh!" Mr. Sludge was brought up in an atmosphere of monkeys, his father's sole capital being a "happy family" in a 4 by 7 cage.

"Monkeys, an' by monkeys I mean chimps an' grilles an' rangtangs an' babs an' grinders," says Mr. Sludge, "ave only two thinks comin'—they think they're hungry—an' they are. An' they think they'll get a lickin'—an' they will. An' all th' perfersors in all th' 'igh schools from Halifax to Hackensack can't make me b'lieve nothin' to the contrary notwithstanding!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

String on His Finger.

There is no doubt that the tying of a piece of string round the finger is a really good aid to a poor memory, but there is a well authenticated case of a man who tied a piece of cotton around his finger in the morning to remind him to get his hair cut.

On the way home to dinner that evening he noticed the piece of cotton.

"Oh, yes, I remember," he said.

And, smiling proudly, he entered the restaurant and sat down before the tonsorial operator.

"Er—yes, sir?" said the artist, puzzled inquiry in his tones.

"Er—Oh, yes; cut my hair, please," commanded the absentminded one, durtly.

"Why, certainly, sir. If you wish it," said the artist. "But you won't mind my mentioning the fact that I cut it this morning, sir, will you?"—Tit-Bits.

Rural Imitation.

From a city apartment little Jack was going for the first time to spend Christmas at his grandfather's farm.

As he ran up the steps of the old house his grandmother caught him up in her arms and put him down, rosy and laughing, before the great log fire in the living room.

"Isn't that fine, Jackie Boy?" she said. "You don't have big log fires like that in New York, do you?"

The boy looked with wide eyed delight at the huge logs as they blazed and crackled in the generous old fireplace, but he was stanchly loyal to his "six rooms and bath."

"It's nice, grandma, but it's only an imitation gas log, isn't it? We have real ones in my house."—Lippincott's Magazine.

As Usual.

"How long have you been a waiter?" asked the customer.

"Ten years, sir," was the reply.

"You've got a lot of money in tips in that time, I suppose?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then you're rich, I suppose?"

"No, sir; you see, I have to give up."

"To the head waiter, I suppose?"

"No, to the cook."

"The cook?"

"Yes; she's my wife, you know."—Yonkers Statesman.

Mental Strain.

The Trump—I was in college once, ma'am, but I had to quit. The work was too hard.

The Lady—Brain work?

The Trump—Well, it did jar me brains. You see, I had de job of tackling dummy on de football field!—Puck.

Agreed.

Mr. Hepworth—I haven't seen my nice umbrella since your George was here.

Gracie—Oh, papa! George would be the last one to take it.

Mr. Hepworth—That's just what I think, daughter.—Chicago News.

Delicacy.

Tailor (calling out measurements to clerk)—Chest thirty-nine half, waist fifty—her proportion! Punch.

Big Money in It.

Howell—How did Rowell make his fortune?

Powell—He invented a shirt which wouldn't wrinkle when the wearer hugged a girl.—New York Press.

A Rare Combination.

A Boston man publishes three magazines, the Journal of Inebriety, Poet Lore and the Journal of Abnormal Psychology. They should pull together well.—New York World.

STEERING A BOAT.

The Rig of the Tiller Ropes Often a Source of Danger.

A CURIOUS LACK OF SYSTEM.

On Some Vessels the Chains Are Crossed, and on Others They Are Straight, and This May Mean Serious Trouble With a Strange Hand at the Wheel.

A bronzed pilot was carefully nursing a big Atlantic liner through the murk and confusion of early morning and innumerable passing craft up the crowded waters of New York bay. The ship was crowded with passengers, most of whom had risen before dawn to watch their homcoming. A tense expression, brought on by the tremendous responsibility, cast its grim lines over the pilot's face as he turned into the lower Hudson river and saw a dense fogbank creeping down from the Palisades. Three miles still to go, and 3,000 lives in his hands! Slowly he crept along, almost touching a ferry load of commuters, just skipping a triple tow of sand scows, threading his way through the maze of vessels big and little; the fog, denser and more dense, making it impossible to see the shadow of nearing craft more than a couple of lengths away.

Suddenly a departing liner, just hauled out into the stream, loomed up off the starboard bow. The pilot turned, ghastly white. "My God! Crossed chains or straight chains? Crossed—or—straight? Heaven help me!" In almost instant desperation he called "Hard aport!" the quartermaster swung the wheel over—and the huge floating hotel slowly turned out and glided by, almost scraping the other.

"Crossed chains—straight chains?"

What does this mean? It means this—that there is no invariable rule or system of arranging the tiller ropes on vessels so that the latter always move in the same direction in response to a similar turn of the wheel. If equipped with "crossed chains" the craft will turn "the opposite way; if with "straight chains" the wheel must be turned in the same direction the vessel is desired to go. Most ocean vessels are equipped with straight chains, though this is by no means an invariable custom. Sailing craft may be and are fixed either way. On the other hand, harbor boats, including tow-boats, tugs, etc., generally have crossed tiller ropes.

Thus our pilot friend had spent most of his nautical life aboard tugs and other inland boats and when confronted with a crisis of great responsibility, he was momentarily between the influence of his habit of twenty years and the newly acquired information given him as he went aboard. It was just by the sheerest chance that he ordered the wheel turned the correct way.

An able ocean seaman signed for a round trip from Buffalo to Duluth and, asked if he could handle the wheel, was sent to the pilot house. They were already under way, and, not being familiar with the uncertainties of steering gear, he neglected to ask the usual question, "Crossed chains or straight chains?" The coal steamer neared a scow load of bricks. "Hard aport!" called the mate. The helmsman lunged his wheel to starboard, as he had been used to do on the high seas, and his vessel bore down upon the unsuspecting tow. "Hard aport, you idiot!" yelled the mate. "Don't you know this boat has crossed chains?" He reversed the wheel and missed the scow by a bare graze.

Such incidents as these are by no means rare in navigating experience, though fortunately serious accidents therefrom are uncommon either because of a benignant fate watching over befuddled men at the wheel or because they instinctively follow the new conditions and turn the helm in the right direction. Pilots themselves scoff at suggestions of danger, saying that a real seaman's instinct will always save him from making mistakes. All the same, a man experienced in handling vessels of their own particular character is generally standing by the newcomer at the wheel for safety's sake.

A more common danger, as far as the general public is concerned, is the universal lack of unity in arranging the steering apparatus on motorboats. Most of these craft are exceedingly small, and the tiller ropes are put in at the beginning of every season by the owners themselves, to suit their own particular notions. So, in every flotilla will be seen steering gear of every description, from simple tillers to elaborate brass mounted wheels, the latter with either crossed or straight chains, as individual fancy may dictate. This is safe as long as the owner or one used to the craft is at the wheel, and not many accidents are reported in such circumstances. But accidents have resulted when an amateur used to crossed ropes has steered a boat oppositely rigged.

But when one used to a launch with "crossed ropes" (requiring

Arlington Advocate

OFFICE

Fowle's Block, Mass. Avenue

Published every Saturday noon by

C. S. PARKER & SON,

Editors and Proprietors.

Subscription $2.

Single copies 5 cts

Arlington, Jan. 27, 1912.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Reading Notices, per line,	25 cents
Special Notices,	15 "
Religious and Ordinary Notices per line,	10 "
Advertisements, per inch,	75 "
one-half inch,	50 "
Marriages and Deaths—free.

Entered at the Boston post office (Arlington Station) as second class matter.

Metropolitan District.

Perhaps the most important matter to be considered by the Legislature now in session is the bill creating a Metropolitan District to embrace the belt of cities and towns surrounding Boston and for several years spoken of by this name although the name has no legal status. The details to be considered and acted upon were prepared by a commission that has given the subject long and careful consideration. The commission claims it is an effort at systemization, to apply business principles in all matters municipal, the object being to secure increased efficiency with more economy in expenditure. More than this the claim is that it will reduce the cost of living, increase commercial and industrial prosperity.

These are large claims, but are not outside the bounds of possibility if concert of action can be secured. This community has a vital interest in any proposition of this kind and citizen ought to study the report of the commission and watch carefully the doing of the Legislature. We append the editorial verdict of a Boston paper on the report of the commission now before the Legislature:—

"The metropolitan district would be sure to gain unity, beauty and business efficiency if the scheme outlined by the metropolitan plan commission were carried out. . . . The recommendation of a permanent planning board for the district should commend itself to every community, as a step towards its own development and the harmonious development of adjacent municipalities. It seems easy to agree with the conclusions of this commission, that there should be a central authority planning for the whole district, that the local autonomy of the cities and towns should not be infringed, and that improvement of a metropolitan character should be effected by co-operation. . . . The various cities and towns interested will do well to take up this matter in a responsive spirit, and help in the work of making a great, metropolitan league of municipalities one in spirit and purpose, however they may differ in political organization."

Pure Milk.

This important matter is before the present Legislature in the shape of what is termed the consumers' clean milk bill. Changed conditions make some form of regulation imperative. Instead of coming from within a radius of twelve miles from Boston, as was the case not so many years ago, milk consumed in the Metropolitan District comes mainly from a hundred or more miles away, and from other states than Massachusetts very largely. It will be seen at a glance that our inspection laws and regulations at sources of supply, cannot be operative in these distant places. That careful inspection is needed, facts familiar to nearly all have demonstrated repeatedly. The public health is a prime consideration and there are few articles of food as responsible for disease in recent years as milk. If men will sell milk unfit for consumption, and we know they will, is it not time that authority was lodged somewhere to prevent this milk coming to the market? It would seem as if the question carried its own affirmative answer.

The bill under consideration seeks authority to exclude unfit milk from this state; to give the State Board of Health authority to inspect any farm that sends milk to Boston; to inspect dairies in this state (not one fifth of the towns or cities have such boards) where there is no local board. These are reasonable requests, and the Legislature in granting them will be simply bringing Massachusetts in line with other states where similar laws are now in force.

On Monday a passenger train was run over the wonderful structure stretching in a straight line forty-six miles from Knights Key to Key West in Florida. This railroad bridge is said to be one of the most unique achievements in the line of railroad construction ever before accomplished. In a sense this is Mr. Henry M. Flagler's bridge, for it was his great wealth that secured its building. The opening was followed by a three-day celebration, at which the Secretary of War represented Pres. Taft.

It looks as though Gov. Wilson, of New Jersey, has kicked over the ladder by which he climbed into a "presidential" possibility and so is left perched in a place from which he is likely to fall (politically) with a dull thud. While in New Jersey last summer we had from well informed people, expressed in as plain, but perhaps more diplomatic terms, the estimate of Gov. Wilson recently published by Col. Watterson.

To Preserve and Enlarge.

Most of our readers are aware that the late Mr. Winfield Robbins, whose noble bequest is before long to furnish Arlington with a stately Town House, supplied most of the paintings and the remarkable collections of prints that make Robbins Library such a delight to visitors. By the fourth section of his will, the probate of which has been but recently completed, Mr. Robbins set aside twenty-five thousand dollars to be "devoted to the care, preservation and increase of my collection of prints; the disbursement of the interest of the fund and supervision of my collection to be under sole control of Miss Clara Robbins."

Last week the above sum ($25,000) was turned over to Myron Taylor, treasurer of the library funds, and the next payment of interest will be available for the purposes named in the bequest. Miss Robbins has been hardly less interested than her cousin in this remarkable collection; it was she who made up the fine catalogue available for the use of visitors, and we only hope some one equally competent and enthusiastic may be found to take her place if the duties of her charge become too onerous.

Chapter Meeting.

The Lexington Chapter, D. A. R., held its meeting Thursday, January 18, with the Regent, Mrs. E. H. Crosby, at her home, 67 Mount Vernon street, Boston. Besides the members of the Old Blake House Chapter, which united with the Lexington Chapter for the meeting, guests were present from the Paul Revere Chapter. Mr. Frederic Wilson, manager of the American Monthly Magazine, opened the meeting with a statement of the advantage of the magazine and its value to members of the D. A. R. Mrs. Irving Locke then presented the third of the papers in the study of the American Revolution. Mrs. Locke told the story of the period of the fight in the Carolinas and the South, from 1778, when the British transferred the seat of war from the North to the South, to 1783. This period of the struggle for independence includes the battles of Cowpens and Guilford Court-House, the death of Benedict Arnold with its tragic associations, a guerrilla warfare from the North Carolinas, and finally the battle of Yorktown and the subsequent surrender of Cornwallis and his seven thousand men to Washington, Oct. 16, 1781. During the next two years, the country was settling itself into a condition of security after England had granted the colonies independence. Finally, articles of peace were signed Sept. 3, 1783, and Washington retired to the quiet of his Mt. Vernon home. Mrs. G. Ernest Griffin and Miss Marguerite Doyle served the tea and refreshments during the social hour which followed the paper. Lexington Chapter has the honor of enrolling among its honorary members: Dr. Charles M. Greene, whose lately deceased wife was vice-regent of the Chapter. The Chapter is holding a series of card parties at Hotel Lenox, January 22 and 29, at two o'clock. The next meeting will be with the Regent, Mrs. Crosby, at 67 Mt. Vernon street, Boston.

Arlington Boy Honored.

S. Trafford Hicks, one of Arlington's boys, has been engaged by Boston Globe to write articles for the morning and evening editions of that paper on "Hints to young hockey players," which are planned to be instructive articles for the school boys. The articles began in the Monday morning edition of this week. The Sunday Globe published a fine picture of Hicks with a brief sketch of his work as a hockey player and from which we clip the following:—

Mr. Hicks has played hockey for 13 or 14 years, taking up the game when a youngster, and before entering Arlington High school about 10 years ago. Prior to 1902 most of the hockey played near Boston was played at Spynod, Arlington, and Hicks was considered good before he entered High school. He played four years at Arlington and the school team, after the first year, won the championship of the Preparatory League three times running. In the winter of 1908-1909 Hicks was one of the best forwards on the best team that coach Winsor ever developed at Cambridge, this team comprising beside Hicks, "Pebo" Gardner, Morgan and Hornblower on the forward line; Ford, cover point; Willets, point, and Washburn, goal. This team won the Interscholastic championship in a canter. Last winter Hicks played with the Boston Hockey Club, which, besides running away with the local league race, also distinguished itself against some of the best Canadian teams. And this winter Hicks is playing forward on the Boston Athletic Association's seven, which ranks among the best. As a player, Hicks has been noted not only for his speed and his proficiency on ice skates but as a sterling player, whose intelligence and natural abilities are combined with very remarkable stick work, as well as general fitness at the game.

Arlington Town Meeting.

The response to the summons of the Selectmen to attend a town meeting on Monday evening, Jan. 22, was anything but general on the part of the legal voters of the town. The turnstile record was 157 and of this number not more than ten members of the association presenting two items of business were present. Arlington is still in the old rut of letting important business go by default. John G. Brackett filled the post of moderator and the business was considered and disposed of in the order in which it was presented in the warrant.

Under Article 2 the sum of $200 was appropriated to clean and straighten Sucker brook. This stream is the outlet to Fowle's mill pond and runs crookedly through the adjacent meadow and along the margin of Mt. Pleasant cemetery. To clean and straighten so as to secure a more rapid flow will be a good thing.

Article 3 asked for an appropriation to replace cement-lined pipe with iron so the high service water supply could be extended to the section near which Symmes Hospital is located. On recommendation of the Committee of Twenty-one the sum of $4,000 was voted, this to be taken from unexpended balances.

The needs of the fire department were brought forward under Articles 4 and 5. To consider these a committee of five was named and instructed to report to the annual March meeting. The committee is made up of Messrs. Peter Schwamb, Daniel Wyman, George A. Kimball, Walton H. Sears, Wm. O. Partridge.

ARTICLE 6. To see if the Town will authorize the Selectmen to petition the Massachusetts Highway Commission to lay out and take charge of, as State Highways, Summer street,

Summer street extension, from Brattle street to Forest street, and Bow street, make an appropriation for any necessary work in connection therewith, or take any action thereon.

The Committee was of the opinion that no action was necessary, but the meeting continued otherwise and chose Messrs. George A. Kimball, William A. Muller, Philip Eberhardt, John R. Foster, Howard W. Spurr to act as a committee to press the claim of Arlington for consideration. To meet any expense $75 was placed at the disposal of the committee.

ARTICLE 7. To see if the Town will authorize the Selectmen to petition the Metropolitan Park Commission to establish as a Metropolitan Parkway an extension of the present boulevard across Medford street, and along the easterly shore of lower Mystic lake through Meadow Brook park, to a point on Mystic street opposite Summer street, or take any action thereon.

The above article was the last in the warrant. The vote was according to the reading. Business being completed, the meeting adjourned.

Everyone who follows the current history of the theatres has heard of Winchell Smith's comedy, "The Fortune Hunter," and its enormous success in New York and Chicago, where it has been acclaimed as the best play of recent years. "The Fortune Hunter," is scheduled at Boston Theatre for the coming two weeks under the direction of Messrs. Cohan and Harris, who have sent this famous play on the road complete in every detail. "The Fortune Hunter," is one of those marvelous productions and plays of the theatre with a universal appeal; it has never had an unfavorable criticism from dramatic writers or the public. The plot revolves around the matrimonial ambitions of a youth who would with one stroke gain connubial bliss and sinful wealth. Henry Kellogg, a Wall street moth, conceives a brilliant campaign for marrying money, but ere he has time to put his plan into execution, he is promoted to a partnership in his firm, so he passes his scheme along to his impetuous friend, Nat Duncan. Nat Duncan begins such a campaign, and the story relates his success, which turns to ashes when he falls in love with a noble hearted poor girl; he is redeemed by work and love and at the end everything comes out delightfully well. The cast embraces a large gallery of salient American types; indeed the comedy may be said to be racy of the soil. It is a great play wholly inspired by American ideals and American humor.

Miss Elsie Ferguson, under the direction of Henry B. Harris, comes to the Hollis Street Theatre, Monday evening, for a two weeks engagement, in her dainty new comedy "The First Lady in the Land," direct from a successful run at the Gaiety Theatre, New York, from the pen of Charles F. Nirdlinger. The announcement should be a welcome one, for Miss Ferguson has won the distinct niche in stardom for her delightful femininity. "The First Lady in the Land" deals with the love affairs of Dolly Todd, the famous New York Quakeress. History tells where she finally placed her hand in marriage, but it has remained for Mr. Nirdlinger to tell of the tugs she had at her heart-strings before she could decide between the staid James Madison, and the dashing dare-devil Aaron Burr. With Burr planning a new empire in Mexico, and all the European nations intriguing with disgruntled politicians to break up the young republic of the United States, Mr. Nirdlinger had plenty of material for stirring incidents and mysterious events. Duelling was rampant, and war merely an incident to attain ends with the men the author brought into his story, but there is a vein of comedy throughout the piece that keeps the action well balanced and entertaining until the last climax. Mr. Harris has surrounded Miss Ferguson with a superb company and has given the play a mounting in keeping with its importance.

An audience that taxed the capacity of the new and beautiful Plymouth Theatre greeted Miss Viola Allen and a great cast, at the opening performance of "The Herfords," on Wednesday night, in the latest work of Miss Rachel Crothers. In "The Herfords" Miss Crothers presents a strictly modern theme, truly national and emphatically appealing. The play deals with the story of Tom Herford, a sculptor, and his wife Ann, also a sculptress, whose ambition sacrifices both the love of her husband and her daughter. "The Herfords" deals with the problem question of man and wife, and is one of those plays that no woman should miss seeing. Miss Allen, who made her appearance in Boston after an absence of several seasons, was tendered a big ovation and is seen at her best in the role of the sculptress, while the others in the cast including Charles Waldron, George Fawcett, John Westly, Grace Elliston, Jessie Izette, Beatrice Prentice and Emily Varian all perform excellent work. Don't fail to see this play that has a strikingly effective moral. The play, which has been staged by the authoress is sumptuously set in three scenes.

There are two color features in the February Metropolitan—a reproduction of one of Sorolla's paintings and a two-color dramatic insert with sketches of the season's successes by Claire Avery. There is a variety of good fiction by Melville D. Post, John Galesworthy, Charles E. Hay and P. G. Wodehouse, besides an installment of the new serial by Maurice Hewlett. The most important article in the February issue is "The Case for La Follette," by Medill McCormick, followed by a personal sketch of the man by Angus McSweeney. In "Light Upon Tripoli," the cruelties practiced on the Arabs by the Italian soldiers are described by Frank J. Magee, an eye witness. "A New Idea in Theatrical Management," by Hamilton Garland, is an interesting account of the aims and purposes of the Chicago Theatre Society. In "Memoirs of To-day," F. C. Little-Owen explains why Archbishop Ireland was not made a cardinal. "Wit Decatur on the Barbary Coast" is a dramatic account of an episode in the early days of our Navy. The departments of humor, literature and politics are an important feature of the Metropolitan.

Next week, at the Castle Square, beginning on Monday, will be of no little importance to theatre-goers outside as well as in Boston. On that day Mr. Craig will offer for the first time on any stage his second annual Harvard-Radcliffe Prize Play. Its title is "The Product of the Mill," and its author and the winner of the play given by Mr. Craig is Miss Elizabeth Aphrodite McFadden. Selected after careful reading and comparison of many plays submitted in competition for the prize, and prepared through careful rehearsal during several weeks, it promises to arouse wide-spread interest. The play will be a strong one emotionally, and it possesses every advantage of a mingled emotion and humor.

Brief News Items.

January has been a month of cold weather. The Governor's Council has voted (7 to 1) to not commute the sentence imposed on murderer Phelps.

Hon. Jos. H. Choate, former U. S. Ambassador, was taken seriously ill on his 80th birthday, last Wednesday.

Attempts to settle the strike at Lawrence have proved abortive. The number out on strike has increased and some mills are closed.

The Duke of Connaught, Gov. General of Canada, is visiting Hon. Whitelaw Reid at his elegant New York home and will be a guest at Washington.

Gov. Fother announces his determination to stop gambling at Newport, R. I., "even if it is necessary to call out the militia to accomplish this end."

The Insane Asylum at Danvers was seriously threatened with destruction by fire, last Wednesday morning. Help from other places prevented very serious loss.

Gov. Foss has named A. L. Thorndyke, who was Democratic candidate for State treasurer, some years ago, to be bank commissioner. He has had large experience in banking business.

Col. Roosevelt's first and only grandchild, daughter of Theodore, Jr., arrived in N. Y. this week from California. Grandpa Roosevelt was at the Central depot to welcome the party.

Frank J. Linehan of Boston, who skipped bail after conviction of fraud on city of Boston, has been captured at New Orleans. He will be brought back when proper papers are made out.

Remove the tax on oleomargarine. The tax of 10 cents a pound was placed originally at the behest of the butter interests. It has served them so well that they have steadily boosted the price of their product for several years.

The report of the Congressional committee that investigated the charge against Dr. Harvey Wiley not only shows conclusively why Mr. Taft could not dismiss the chief chemist, as he was asked to do, but gives the reasons which should retire James A. Wilson from the head of the Department of Agriculture.

"That state troops should not act in their official capacity as an escort to any dignitary of any church, in view of the complete separation of church and state in this country." This was the contention and grounds on which the 9th M. V. M. will not be included in the reception to Cardinal O'Connell.

Jackson Palmer, the young Lowell attorney who was convicted of perjury in his testimony before the Middlesex grand jury at the September sitting of the Superior Criminal Court, and who later filed motions to quash the indictments upon which he was tried, alleging that the indictment was improperly found, was denied his motions by Judge John D. McLaughlin, who handed down his decision at the East Cambridge Court on Monday.

Marriages.

FAHEY—MULLEN—In Arlington, Jan. 24, by Rev. Joseph P. Lawless. Patrick Fahey and Ellen Mullen, both of Arlington.

Deaths.

EMERY—In Arlington, Jan. 23, James Emery, formerly of Charlestown, aged 75 years, 2 months 10 days.

SUMNER—In Arlington, Jan. 22, Lovett H. Sumner, aged 91 years, 7 months, 6 days.

WANTED: Maid for general housework, also, a nurse maid. Protestants preferred. Apply to 801 Mystic street, Arlington, or phone 884-Arl. Jan27

FRESH EGGS: A few customers solicited for strictly fresh eggs. Will be delivered. Address W. S. Johnson, 36 Dudley street, Arlington.

FOR SALE.

HOUSEHOLD HOT AIR HEATER. Only a little used. Made by White, Walker Co. Taunton, Mass. Has steel dome and shoe with ample space for hot water coil. Fire pot 2 inches. Apply to O. B. MARSTON CO., 210ct1f 9 SWAN PLACE, Arlington, Mass.

FOR SALE: A sleigh. Inquire at 275 Broadway, Arlington. Jan27f

TO LET: Stable of four stalls, Carriage house and shed for four wagons. Can be used for Garage. Apply to 15 Avon place, Arlington. 27jan2w

TO LET: For business purposes, two large rooms at 461 Mass. Ave., over old Upham Market. Apply to C. F. Marston, 463 Mass. Ave. dec30tf

HOUSE TO RENT. 233 Massachusetts Ave. East Lexington, 8 rooms. Inquire of R. A. Somers or A. L. Griffin, Bowdoin Square Theatre, Boston. Phone Haymarket 1780. 21oct1f

TO LET: A house with modern improvements, lighted with gas, located at 1188 AVENUE. Apply at 333 Mass. Ave., Arlington. dec9tf

SLEIGH FOR SALE. Excellent double sleigh, double runners, not used sufficient to wear the new off, is for sale, can be seen at carriage shop of E. Price, Belmont. Inquire of John J. Cusack, 5 Addison St., Arlington. 20jan2w

FOR RENT. Half of double house, No. 18 Sw. Place, of 4 rooms, bath, laundry, for rent. Apply 418 Mass. Avenue. Jan13tf

CHAIR: cane seated by C. I. Forsyth, State Road. Chairs called for and delivered free. Please drop postal. 13nov3w SITUATION WANTED. JOHN LOMAXLEY a steady, reliable, faithful man, wishes employment in Arlington for the next three months. He has been with us for two seasons and I can cheerfully recommend him to any one desiring such a man about the house or premises. Please apply at First National Bank. E. NELSON BLAKE.

FOR SALE

A double runner Pump; practically new, well painted, suitable for Grocery work or general business. Also, a speed sleigh with wide seat, has been run but few times. These can be bought at a very low price.

EDWARD P. NICHOLS, Oak street, East Lexington. 20jan3w

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons interested in the trusts under the will of NATHAN ROBBINS, late of Arlington, in said County, deceased.

Whereas a petition has been presented to said Court by Ida F. Robbins, Eliza P. Robbins and Clara Robbins, of Arlington, in the County of Middlesex, praying that John A. Hardy be appointed trustee under the will of said deceased, which has been proven in said Court.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the twelfth day of February A. D. 1912, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioners are ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Arlington Advocate, a newspaper published in Arlington, the last publication to be one day at least, before said Court.

Witness, CHARLES J. MCINTIRE, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twelfth day of January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve. W. E. ROGERS, Register. 27jan3w

Frank V. Noyes & Company

THOMPSON SO., - CHARLESTOWN, MASS

Member of Firm of Charles Haas & Co. 30 Kilby St., Boston.

Telephones 10 11

Insurance of All Classes.

The largest and best Stock and Mutual Companies at lowest prices.

Special attention to care and management of Real Estate

LISTEN The man who Knows a Good Smoke.

A Fresh lot of Choice Cigars from Porto Rico

La Habanera Exquisite 10c. each

La Habanera Rothschilds

3 for 25c., Box of 25 $2.00.

10c straight, Box of 25 $2.25.

La Rose De Bayamon or Panetellas Brevas, 5c. straight, Box 25 $1.25.

Whittemore Pharmacy ARLINGTON CENTRE

EVERYBODY LIKES KISSES

PURE, SWEET, HEALTHFUL—THAT IS OUR KIND

When you go home to-night take a box of

40 CENT CHOCOLATES FOR 29 cents

Just for Auld Lang Syne. If she isn't pleased, we'll refund your money.

Chocolates from 20c to 85c per pound.

N. J. HARDY BAKER AND CATERER

Associates Building, Arlington

N. C. WADELEIGH, Treasurer,

Telephone 294.

J. L. A. CHELLIS, Manager

Telephone 42M

O. B. MARSTON CO.

GENERAL CONTRACTORS

Metal Ceilings put up

All kinds of plain Mill Work

Jobbing promptly attended to

Shop, 9 SWAN PLACE,

Arlington

ARLINGTON

WILLIAM A. MULLER & CO.

INSURANCE

OF EVERY Description

18 Central Street - Boston

COAL

At Lowest Market Price

PEIRCE & WINN CO.

J. HERBERT KENNEDY

PUBLISHERS' AGENT.

Domestic and Foreign Books and Periodicals.

22 Albermarle St., ARLINGTON.

Post Office Building, CAMBRIDGE.

LEXINGTON LUMBER CO

KILN-DRIED

FLOORING

Tel. Lexington 370,

Lexington, Mass

R. W. HILLIARD

Insurance Agency,

669 Mass. Avenue,

ARLINGTON, - MASS

Tel. 4706 Main. Boston Office, 67 Milk St.

FLETCHER'S EXPRESS

461 Mass. Ave.

Telephone Connection

REPAIRING

ESTIMATES FURNISHED

GEORGE A. BRYSON

(Twelve Years with R. W. LeBaron)

Electrical Contractor

Telephone 353-W

220 Franklin St., Arlington, Mass

EAST LEXINGTON LOCALS.

We understand that Mr. G. Carlton Worthen left this week for the south.

Miss Hazel Elliot, of Marlboro, is a guest at her aunt's, Mrs. Chas. Hadley's.

Sunday our street was filled with autos and sleighs and all were merry in the crisp air.

Rev. Mr. Quimby preached, last Sabbath morning, from the text found in 1st Corinthians 16: 6.

The Christian name of the late Mrs. Prescott was Lusanna, and not Susanna, as was misprinted last week.

We regret to hear that Mr. Amos Richards, of Locust avenue, is still pretty sick, but hope he will be better soon.

If we heard right, one day this week was to be visiting day for our teachers and, of course, no school sessions.

It is certainly true that the first month of the new year is gradually sliding down the hill of time. It has furnished enough of cold, ice and snow to make us glad to see it depart.

We hear that Madam Tower, Miss Tower and Miss Gillespie are enjoying life at their winter home at Thomasville, Ga., as it is very genial there and it was very cold when they left their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moulton, of Middle street, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a little daughter, which will be another ornament to their beautiful home.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Pero entertained, for a few days last week, Miss Bessie Johnson, of New York, and Mrs. Pero's niece from Medford, Miss Ida May Buchanan.

The annual Ladies' Night of the E. L. Men's club will be the regular meeting night in March. It is wise this notice should be given a long time ahead so due preparation can be made by the ladies for the event.

Rev. Mr. Quimby led the Guild, Sunday evening, and the subject consisted of a comment on a lecture of Robert Ingersoll's on "The Hereafter," but it is impossible to give even a cursory review of a long lecture of such a nature.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Pero enjoyed a delightful sleigh ride, Sunday afternoon, on Pleasant street, Arlington. A large company turned out, and among them were a great number of the "Fellows Club." Tower Boy was up and doing and never showed off to better advantage.

Rev. and Mrs. MacDonald, of Hood River, Oregon, cannot, we think, realize the pleasure of any tidings from them in their far-away home, brings to the little flock which they left behind. We were pleased to receive a postal with New Year's greetings and a picture of a Washington forest in the far west. The trees are immense.

Miss Beatrice Stoney will lead Follen Guild meeting, next Sunday evening, and her subject will be "Songs in Exile." At the business meeting of Follen Guild, held with Miss Pearl Wright, Monday evening, the Social committee chosen were Misses Nellie K. Thayer, Alice Spaulding, Marion Fraser, Mattie Wilson and Beatrice Stoney.

Mrs. Ella G. Damon, who sailed from New York, Saturday, on the steamship "Bluecher," for a trip to South America, anticipated a pleasant time, and her many friends here and elsewhere hope her anticipations may be more than realized, as she has an observant mind and eye that drinks in deeply the charms of new scenes and new lands, with all their strange contrasts of customs and manners.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pierce returned, last week, from their wedding journey. We, with many others in our village, extend our heartiest congratulations and the hope that the choicest of heaven's blessings may rest on them. Mr. Pierce was born in East Lexington and lived here many years, and his wife came here as a young girl and resided in our midst a number of years, and they still have many friends here.

Sunday, Jan. 21st, was Mr. Benjamin Stoney's twenty-fourth birthday anniversary, so he invited to his home on Mass. avenue, in our village, all the young men from his office, where he works at Jordan, Marsh Company, Boston, to spend the afternoon. There were a few also present from East Lexington. The company remained to supper and his mother and brothers and sisters contributed much to their enjoyment and the bounteous supper was much enjoyed by Mr. Stoney and his comrades. The time was filled with sociability and music was lavishly interspersed. All left with the kindest wishes for their young friend and a wreath of choicest hopes for his future now that he has passed the twenty-fourth mile stone and proved himself in every way worthy of the respect and love of his home people, associates in business and elsewhere.

We wish to express our hearty thanks to Mr. Oscar Needham who so kindly sends us a report of the monthly meeting of the Men's Club. The regular monthly meeting of the East Lexington Men's Club was held Monday evening, January 22nd, in the vestry of Follen church. Forty members were present. A fine supper of roast pork, potato salad, frankfurts, sauer kraut, doughnuts and pie was served by the supper committee, of which Mr. Charles H. Butterfield was chairman. After supper, in the absence of President Foster, vice-president H. W. Cobb called the meeting to order and announced that in the absence of a speaker the meeting would be a musical and social one. There were piano solos by Leonard Wiley and Anthony Viveiros; songs by Anthony Viveiros; duet by Messrs. Wiley and Viveiros, all of which made a very pleasant evening.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Pero entertained a sleighing party, of thirty-four ladies and gentlemen, from Cambridge, one evening last week. They arrived about nine o'clock, and Mr. and Mrs. Pero rode to North Lexington with them to the home of their son and wife, at "Pleasant View Farm" and there they partook of delicious hot chocolate and fancy crackers. They then returned to the home of the Peros where they were refreshed again with a hot oyster stew. The party then enjoyed an hour with vocal and instrumental music, also dancing. They left for home at quarter before twelve, joyous over the mingled delights of the evening which found expression in the crisp cold air by the merriest ringing of bells and the blowing of horns most lustily, as they departed from the home of their kind and hospitable host and hostess. Even the horses pranced away with renewed spirit for the kind treatment they had received. A merry sleighing party is one of the brightest features in the white robed snowy earth on a cold winter night.

On Friday night the East Lexington Men's Club held a dance in Village Hall. Those having charge of arrangements and dancing were Mr. Charles H. Spaulding, Mr. Francis Buttrick, Mr. G. L. Pierce. About a hundred dancers were present and the gentlemen and ladies whirled through the mazes of the dance to the inspiring music of the Colonial Orchestra. Dion was caterer, and ice cream and cake always touch the right spot and revive the merry dancers. It was a very pleasant party.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS LOCALS.

The Sunshine Club met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Wm. E. Lloyd.

Mrs. L. F. Brown, with master Pembroke and Mr. Brown are in New York city for a week.

Plans are being made for the annual church congress to be held at the Methodist church the last of March.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church was entertained at the parsonage on Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Oechsli.

Mrs. Charles R. Scott, of Tanager street, will take charge of the choir chorus of young people, next Sunday, at the Park Avenue church.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Schmezer, who have been staying at the home of Mr. H. H. Stinson during his absence in Maine, will return to their home on Tanager street Monday of next week.

Mrs. W. Millett Lloyd and two children, who have been visiting Mrs. Lloyd's parents, the Henry Gorbams, at Yarmouth on the cape, for the past four weeks, returned to their home on West street, Tuesday of this week.

Claude A. Palmer returned home on Tuesday night from a flying trip to New York City and Akron, Ohio, to attend the annual directors meeting of the Eastern Clay Goods Co. He spent a most enjoyable week-end with his parents at Syracuse, N. Y.

The Westminster Men's Club was addressed at its last meeting, held Jan. 17, in the vestry of the Methodist Episcopal church, by Rev. Shirley D. Collins, superintendent of the missionary work in East Africa, who told of the means employed to bring Christianity to the natives.

Mrs. Lorentzen, the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Florentine Schnetzer, has been through a serious operation at Dr. Cunningham's hospital in Cambridge. When she is able to leave the hospital she will come to the Heights to be with her parents for a brief time, before returning to her home in Somerville.

Friends in the Baptist church, and others, sympathize deeply with Mrs. Andrew Freeman in the death of her mother, Mrs. Sterling, of Somerville, which occurred last week. Death was unexpected and therefore harder to bear. Rev. Drew T. Wyman, of the Arlington Hts. Baptist church, officiated at the funeral and made it a most comforting service.

Rev. P. A. Gould will assist at the Evangelistic meetings to be held during next week at the Methodist church. The gospel team from the Theological School will also be present to assist the latter part of the week in the services. The meetings will begin the coming Sunday and will continue through the week, closing on the following Sunday.

When starting out to attend the sewing meeting of the Woman's Aid Association at Symmes Arlington Hospital, Friday of last week, Mrs. T. W. White had the misfortune to fall on the ice and break her right wrist. The accident happened in front of her home on Appleton street, so that medical aid was immediately summoned and the wrist set.

Mrs. Alex. Livingstone, Mrs. Wm. E. Lloyd and Miss Mary Wyman attended the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Whitaker, which occurred Jan. 16th, at Newton Highlands. The Sunshine Club remembered the couple with a five dollar gold piece and some of the members of the club presented Mrs. Whitaker with a handsome gold pin, studded with pearls and a diamond center. This gift was greatly appreciated and much admired by Mrs. Whitaker.

Preparatory to special Evangelistic meetings to be held on every evening of next week in the Methodist Episcopal church, there have been this week cottage prayer meetings on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. On Tuesday evening the meetings were held at the homes of Mr. F. J. Harling of Westmoreland avenue, Mrs. Reed of Aerial street, Mr. William White of Park avenue extension. Thursday evening the meetings were held at the home of the minister, Rev. Leonard Oechsli, Wm. Balsor of Forest street, Chas. Cross of Lowell street. The hours were arranged so that the pastor could attend each of the meetings.

Last week Friday evening, in Crescent Zouave Hall on Park avenue, the Crescent Zouaves, assisted by a number of friends, presented a pleasing entertainment. Two farpes were performed, the first being "The Duchess of Dublin." In the cast were George Stevens, Albert Bradhurst, William Power, Jr., William Stevens, Paul Power, Walter Ireland, Bessie Lusk, Catherine Robinson, Eunice Quinn and Margaret McCarthy. The second farce was "School, or Patsy Boliver." Those taking the characters were Clarence Hill, Harry Bradhurst, John Cunningham, Wilfred Kenney, Harry Farran, Frank Power, Leonard Canton, Louis McClellan. The committee in charge in-

DOLLOFF FARM MILK

LIGHT AND HEAVY

Fresh Eggs CREAM Buttermilk

L. M. DOLLOFF

1068 Mass. Ave. Arlington

Now is the time to look after

HARDWOOD FLOORS

Interior Finish

GEO. W. KENTY & CO.

Office, 609 Mass. Avenue,

Residence, 16 Harvard St., Arlington, Mass.

11mar.

Ladies Hair Dressing

Fine quality hair goods to order

Combing Used. Swedish Massage

Finest Hosiery—Choice Dress Goods

M. S. PARKHURST

Tel. 364-M Associates Bldg., Arlington Mass

Goes farthest for the money

LIPTON'S TEA

OVER 2 MILLION PACKAGES SOLD WEEKLY

RUSSELL & FAIRFIELD

Established 1868

(Geo. O. Russell)

INSURANCE

ALL CLASSES

20 KILBY STREET

BOSTON

Telephone, 5090 Main

C. S. PARKER & SON, Printers

VALENTINES

Large stock, all new goods.

See them before buying.

All prices from 1 cent up.

WETHERBEE BROS.

480 Mass. Avenue Tel. 414L Arlington Mass

Mansfield Crackers

SOLD BY

JAMES O. HOLT

ESTABLISHED 1841

J. Henry Hartwell & Son,

Undertakers,

Will attend to all duties connected with our profession.

A Lady Attendant, when desired.

Office and Warerooms, 4 Medford St., ARLINGTON, MASS.

Telephone Connection.—Office 127-W; Res. 137-R

Residence and Night Call.—799 Mass. Avenue

Branch Office, 55 PARK AVE., Arlington Hts.

CLARK BROTHERS,

—DEALERS IN—

COAL AND GRAIN

We handle the Best Grades of GRAIN and

ALL RAIL COAL

Grain and Coal Elevators, CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION

Office, 144 Mass. Ave., North Cambridge Junction.

GOODS DELIVERED IN ARLINGTON

15septem

FRANK A. LOCKE,

Piano Tuner, Repairer and Regulator.

Over 20 Years' Experience. Tuner in Arlington 15 Yrs

Boston Office, 52 Bromfield St.,

Arlington office, Fred S. Smith's jewelry store, near cor. Mass.

Ave., and Mystic Street. Lexington office, H. V. Smith's periodical store. Arlington Hts. Office, L. D. Bradley's Store.

Telephone in Residence.

Recommendations from manufacturers, dealers, teachers, colleges and the musical profession.

Pianos selected for parties about to buy and $25 to $75, saved.

Refers to Ex-Gov. Brackett, W. W. Rawson, Dr. Perry, G. G. Allen, H. G. Porter, E. H. Gray

H. A. Phinney, E. Nelson Blake, Wm. E. Wood, Hon. Sam'l McCall, Vice-Prest. Berry, R. & M. R. E., Ex-Supt. French, N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R., Gen. Manager Barr, B. & M. R. E. and many others.

cluded Edward Schwamb (chairman), Edward Nourse, Helmer Anderson, Walter Schwamb, Vincent Lusk, William Powers and George Horner. Dancing followed.

—Rev. Drew T. Wyman's subjects at the Baptist church, next Sunday, at 10.45, a. m., will be "The Ministry of the Word," and at 7 P. M., "Food that worships." Men's prayer meeting 9.30, a. m.

—The United Helpers of the Baptist church gave an experience social, Wednesday evening, in the church vestry, which netted them about twenty-five dollars. There was an entertainment and refreshments. The most amusing feature was the hat trimming contest participated in by four gentlemen in which Mr. Wm. H. Richardson carried off the prize.

—Owing to the illness of Mrs. Shinn, the Arlington Heights Study Club met at the home of Mrs. Rexford. Mrs. Quimby, chairman, gave a typographical survey of London at the time of Chaucer. Mrs. Mitchell followed with a paper on the lives of Chaucer, Shakespeare, Spencer, Bacon and Milton. Mrs. Currier covered the next literary period, that of Addison, Pepys and Dr. Johnson. Mrs. Quimby then continued taking the Victorian era, touching upon the contemporary writers and closing the afternoon with extracts from a late article on the contemporary novelist by H. T. Wells. The afternoon afforded unusual interest. It furnished inspiration and enlightenment to members and their guests.

—The second dancing party to be conducted by Messrs. Oscar Schnetzer and Wm. E. Bunton was given last Saturday evening, in Crescent Hall. It was not as large a party as the first and was made up chiefly from residents of the Heights. Of course this made it especially enjoyable, although the friends from out of town, especially Winchester and Dorchester, were missed. The hall was handsomely decorated by the management. Pink was the color scheme, crepe paper and chrysanthemums in the pink shades making a most charming setting for the handsomely gowned ladies. Streamers of the paper, alternating with ropes of chrysanthemums, were festooned from the center of the ceiling to the sides. The iron girders were covered with the paper and clusters of pink roses hung from the side lights. Hancock's orchestra never played better. There were several new gowns that were especially lovely and up to date. The Stanley Fobes had an attractively gowned group of ladies with them. Mrs. Fobes was stylishly and beautifully gowned in a white crepe-de-chine, combined with black messaline and silver trimming, which was especially becoming. Her sister, Mrs. Hyatt, was in pale blue chiffon over pink silk and trimmed with silver, cut low neck. Mr. Fobes' sister, Mrs. Brown, was in ecru crepe-de-chine, with blue marquisette overdress and silver trimming. Mrs. Edwin P. Stuckney was one of their party and wore blue crepe-de-chine. Mrs. Stinson had as her guest a Mrs. Connor, who wore a figured blue satin, and blue chiffon, combined with rich lace and fur. Her jewels were diamonds, as were also Mrs. Stinson's, who looked especially attractive. Mrs. Learned, of Everett, was in blue silk, and Miss Katharine Hunt wore a unique gown of white satin, combined with blue lace and swansdown; Miss Mary Cutting was in old rose, and Miss Merrill, of Grand Rapids, who was a guest of her cousin, Mr. Alfred Patterson, was in pale blue; Mrs. Bert Currier wore white embroidered marquisette, with blue chiffon overdress; Mrs. W. C. Drouet was in white marquisette, embroidered in old rose. These are a few of the many attractive gowns worn. Mrs. G. W. Chickering and Mrs. Henry R. Sellers were the matrons. The former was in cream colored messaline, with a beaded chiffon overdress, while the latter wore a royal blue messaline, with embroidered front panel. Frappe was served during the evening, in the retiring room, which was festooned with the pink crepe paper.

A Great Hit.

There were nearly two hundred present at Park Avenue church, Tuesday evening, at the entertainment and social given under the auspices of the Friday Social Club, by a special committee chairmaned by Mrs. E. N. Chase. The committee prepared and gave the entertainment which was voted at its close one of the best of its character ever presented by the club. It was a musical-dramatic in two acts, entitled "A Musical Boquet," and was rewritten for the occasion by Mrs. Charles Bell. It was burlesque in its character for the most part and hardly any one, prominent on the hill, failed to get a rap, but it was all good fun, so no one's feelings suffered and every one had a good hearty laugh. Of course there was a plot. Mrs. Meranda Blossom's (Mrs. Chase) husband has gone away to seek his fortune and, not hearing from him, the wife and eight daughters conclude he has died and, as a mortgage on the farm has come due, the daughters assume the task of paying it off by forming an entertainment troupe.

The first scene is laid in Mrs. Blossom's kitchen, where the sisters are planning what specialty they shall do; and the second, after a return from a successful tour in Paris. The daughters were Rose, Mrs. J. H. Mead; Daisy, Miss Bunton; Violet, Miss Christine Currier; Pansy, Mrs. Bell; Clover and Myrtle, the Misses Hunt; Lillie, Mrs. Fred Curry and Blonde, the colored maid, Mrs. H. H. Stinson. Misses Bunton and Currier gave a duet; Mrs. Mead a solo dressed as a prima donna, and she never sang better; the Misses Hunt a clever song "O you Chicago, O you New York," in professional style; Mrs. Chase a speech on "Woman Suffrage," which was capital given; while an original monologue by Mrs. Stinson simply brought down the house.

A burlesque on the balcony scene from Romeo and Juliet was given by Mesdames Curry and Bell, in their inimitable style, and was another great hit. The three last mentioned ladies really carried off the laurels of the evening, although all were so good that encores were demanded from each. The play closed with the song "He's coming back," and the unfurling of a large banner on which was printed "Vote for Women." Before the play Edith Byram gave two pianoforte selections and responded to an encore that was truly merited. Mrs. Conant contributed contralto solos that were greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Edward Shirley filled the important position as accompanist. After the entertainment ice cream and cake were served by Mesdames Drouet, Tilden, Schnetzer and W. M. Lloyd. This was a challenge entertainment and nine selected gentlemen who saw the performance will be asked to repeat the show at the next social.

R. W. Shattuck & Co

offer a full line of

Carving Sets,

Roasting Pans, (single and double)

Chopping Trays,

Food Choppers,

Pie Plates, etc.,

Perfection Oil Heaters,

High and Low Gas Radiators,

Galvanized Ash Cans,

Ash Can Trucks,

Rotary and Plain Ash Sieves,

Galvanized Garbage Cans,

Galvanized Coal Hods,

Lanterns of all kinds.

"Besdam" Auto Tire Chains.

ask to see the best tire chain on the market.

also

"Polarine" Automobile Oil.

A. L. NOURSE,

32 Post Office Building, Arlington, Mass.

Scalp Treatment, Shampooing.

Chiropractic, Manicuring, Facial Massage.

A full line of Pompadours, Hair Goods, etc.

Tel. 786-W. Calls by Appointment

Electric

KEELEY INSTITUTE,

LEXINGTON, MASS.

Inebriety Treated as a Disease and Permanent Cures effected. Has stood the test of time and closest scrutiny. For particulars as to terms or any other information desired, address the Institute at Lexington.

E. REARDON FLORIST

895 Mass. Avenue

CUT FLOWERS FUNERAL DESIGNS

WEDDING DECORATIONS

VIOLETS IN THEIR SEASON

Telephone Arlington 96-W

FULL LINE OF

OF

LUCAS

Interior and Exterior

Gloss Paints

AND STAINS.

All colors.

J. F. BERTON,

House, Sign and Decorative Painter,

5 Medford St., ARLINGTON.

Residence, 156 Morrison Ave., Somerville.

Arlington 39-4. Somerville 412-6. 19dre

JAMES T. SWAN,

CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANT.

60 STATE ST., BOSTON.

el. Fort Hill 2447. Residence: Arlington 651 M

27jan3m

FOSTER BROTHERS

MAKERS OF APPRO-

PRIATE PICTURE

AND

MIRROR FRAMES

4 Park Sq. Boston

Telephone.

Capital, $50,000. Surplus, $50,000.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Arlington, Mass.

E. NELSON BLAKE, President.

JAMES A. BAILEY Jr., Vice-President

JOHN A. EASTON, Cashier

WILLIAM GRATTO

HARDWARE

FOR A LITTLE MAID.

A Smart Brown
Velveteen Model.

MODISH VELVETEEN FROCK.

Velvet must be used very simply in children's frocks, and this model of brown velveteen, with its straight skirt and short bodice, with cream lace collar and cuffs, is in very good style. A brown cord finishes the waistline.

Googoo Eyes Make Turks Happy.
The maidens of Turkey have learned to make American googoo eyes. They have learned to flirt like an American belle or a Paris girl.

So said Sidkey Bey, discussing the new regime in Turkey today. He was formerly second secretary to the Turkish embassy at Washington, afterward acting consul general in New York. Sidkey Bey is here with his wife, handsome and talented. He went on: "In the old days a woman in Turkey couldn't flirt because her glances were wasted on the wrong side of her veil. Now she can use her eyes to advantage, and she knows it. The Turk knows it, too, and is glad she does not wear the veil."

"In these days the American courtship is carried on in Turkey. The young man calls at the girl's house and even goes so far as to take her out for a walk just like the American or Englishman. Then he pops the question, and if she accepts they are eventually married if some other fellow does not come along whom the girl might like better."

To the Bachelor Girl.
The bachelor girl, especially at the outset of her career, is usually bright, jolly, in love with life and the good times she is having. Every one likes her because her outlook on life is so cheery. She is welcomed everywhere. Her social calendar is usually filled.

But if she wants to continue popular, if she wants her life to remain interesting, she should as the years slip by keep strict watch and ward upon herself.

For this gay, careless life of the bachelor girl is apt to make her self-centered, self-absorbed. She grows selfish. She is apt to be concerned only with herself and her own affairs.

And gradually, little by little, lovable slips out of her character, and before she knows it life will not be full of bloom and fragrance. There will be barren spots. It will begin to take on the hue of the desert. And unless she heeds these signs of the times she will come to a rather desolate old age.

Pots of Glass.

A process has recently been invented in France to produce glass flowerpots at very low cost. The pots are like ordinary flowerpots both in size and shape. They are said to be more substantial and have proved to resist the pressure of ice or frozen earth better. Being handsome in appearance, they are fine for potted plants, doing away with the paper coverings that soon get soiled. When sunk into the earth they remain clean, as neither dirt nor smooth adheres. The inside walls being smooth, plants can easily be slipped out, and they are therefore excellent for potting plants with many roots. The thickness of the glass, with the consequent lack of porosity, is also said to be an advantage, for the air remains sweet longer in a glass pot than in an ordinary pot, and there is less danger of drying out. While the initial cost of glass pots is somewhat higher, they are really cheaper in the end because more durable.

"Yes," said the literary man with a sigh, "style is a fine thing for a writer to have, but when his wife's got it, too, it takes all the profit away."—Harper's Weekly.

THE DELAYED DEAL.

The game was exciting and close:
We were eager and anxious to play.
Twas the turn of midday to deal.
And she picked up the cards right away
She started to shuffle them, too.
And then in a manner most bland
She remarked, with a trace of a smile,
"In dealing I use my left hand."

She riffled the cards once again.
"It's queer I should shuffle this way,
I never my left hand employ
Except when at poker I play.
I write, I crochet and I sew
Right handed and get up a meal—
You'd hardly believe it is so—
But I use my left hand when I deal."

Back and forth went the cards in her hand.
And we shifted about in our chairs.
But still she remarked, with a smile:
"I do it, I think, unawares.
It's an unconscious act, I've been told."
Her smile, I am certain was real.
"My friends often laugh at me too.
I use my left hand when I deal."

"My people all use their right hands—
No left handed madmen have we—
And why I should do this one thing
With my left hand I never could see."
Still back and forth went the cards.
And still she went on with her spiel.
But a man cut in short with a cry.
"For heaven's sake, lady, please deal!"
—Detroit Free Press.

A Crank.

"What does your husband like for his breakfast?"
"Anything I haven't got in the house."—New York Mail.

History Revised.

Anciently there lived a certain man of the name of George, who was much pestered by a dragon.
The dragon's colors were never twice alike, and by that the creature got on George's nerves in a particular manner.

At length George fell to thinking, and the very next time he was asked what he would have he replied:
"Never again!"

Moreover, he stuck to it.
"St. George," sniffed his boon companions ironically.
But posterity spoke of him without irony, remembering only that he had by the exercise of a superb courage slain the dragon.—Puck.

Over the Telephone.

"Hello!"
"Hello!"
"Is this the manager of the Sphinx theater?"
"Yes."
"Well, say, I'm your leading man."
"Oh, yes."
"Can you get hold of my wife's understanding in a hurry?"
"Why, yes, but there's no performance until tonight."
"Not at the theater. But my wife's sick abed, and I want somebody to get me something to eat!"—Yonkers Statesman.

Duty Done.

The American lady with the inevitable blue veil flying from her headgear rushed breathlessly up to a guide in the Vatican. "Can you tell me—have I seen the Pantheon?" she panted.
"Surely madame must know that better than I," was the astonished reply, which brought another swift question, "Has it a hole in it?" The admission that it had a hole effected a quick shift of gratitude. "Then," spoke the product of the great republic, closing her Baedeker with a bang, "I reckon I'm through with Italy."—Sporting Times.

Pursuit.

"You are not pursuing the same lines of argument as you were some years ago."
"No," replied Senator Sorghum; "the way they dig up old speeches is annoying. Those old lines of argument are now pursuing me."—Washington Star.

Self Advertising.

"Five hundred marks for this parrot? That's a lot of money."
"He talks well, sir."
"Very well. I'll have him as soon as you have taught him to say, 'I cost 500 marks!'"—Elleghende Blatter.

Heavy.

"I hope you young men realize your responsibilities."
"We do, indeed, professor," said the spokesman for the freshman class.
"It's up to us to invent a brand new class yell."—Kansas City Journal.

No Drawback.

"Can you paint me a gallery of ancestors from this old tintype?"
"I can, but they will all look much alike."
"Well, a family resemblance won't hurt none!"—Washington Herald.

That War Cloud.

Bill—Italy, the cradle of the salt industry, has been manufacturing salt commercially for 2,500 years.
Jill—And yet I'll bet that Turkey considers Italy too fresh.—Yonkers Statesman.

POLICE OF BERLIN.

Each One Is a Sort of Czar on His Own Limited Beat.

EVERY PERSON IS WATCHED.

Where a Man Works, How He Amuses
Himself and the Way He Behaves It
Is the Officer's Business to Know.
The Civil Service System.

"When you arrive at a railway station in Berlin," said a professional man who spent a year in Berlin, "you are not surrounded by a clamoring crowd of cab drivers, some of whom a stranger would be foolish to trust. You tell a policeman what you want—whether a cab or a porter—and he gives you a number. When you emerge from the station a uniformed governmental employee, either cab driver or porter, stands at attention and salutes you in a military manner. He has been ordered for you by the policeman inside, and when he presents his number, corresponding to the one the policeman gave you, you can trust him to take you or your luggage wherever it is to go. The government is responsible for the safe arrival of yourself and your luggage at hotel or other destination. If the porter should run away with your belongings the government would reimburse you."

"The police system is wonderful. The officers carry no revolvers or clubs, only swords. Each one has only a small beat to cover—a couple of blocks or so—that he has time to be the monitor of the moral conduct of every person in his district. He knows exactly what each person is doing, where he is working, how he is spending his leisure time and whether he is behaving himself. There is very little crime, and the police courts have little business."

"If you commit an offense you are not dragged off to a police station. Instead, your name and address are taken by the officer in the district, and the next day a letter informs you that you have been fined an amount in keeping with the character of your offense. You are told that you either can send the money by messenger or appear at the prefect's office for trial at a certain time. It doesn't pay to give a policeman a wrong address either, because the system is so perfect that they will find you anyway and fine you more."

"The policemen are instructed to prevent infractions of the law, not to wait for persons to get into trouble and then arrest them. Each policeman has such a small district to cover that you can find one whenever you want one. He sees that his district is kept clean, that each house in it is sanitary and that each resident gets fair treatment from his neighbor. Disputes are settled with no thought of appeal before they ever get to the police station."

"Soon after I arrived I was on my way to the university one morning and saw a policeman at a cab stand examining the hoofs and backs of the horses, the harness and the cushions and wheels of the cabs."

"What are you doing?" I asked him politely.
"As a representative of my government," he replied, "I am inspecting to see that the passengers of these cabs are assured a safe journey with them. The government is responsible, you know, and it is my duty to see that all dangers and possibilities of discomforts are eliminated."

"His answer was given in a most courteous manner.
"There are no paupers in Germany. Everybody pays as he goes. You can see the result in the independent manner of even the street sweeper. He knows he shall be provided for in case he encounters adversity."

"For instance, suppose a lamplighter or a bootblack becomes ill or suffers an accident. By the way, the bootblacks of Berlin do a thriving business because not a man, from street sweeper up to banker, would think of appearing on the street of a morning without having his shoes shined. If such a lowly worker becomes disabled the government association of his district gives him a certificate to any physician for whom he may have a preference. It is good for two weeks, and the physician is assured, through the association, that the government will pay him. If more than two weeks' medical attention is required the association issues a new certificate. The disabled worker pays for his medicines in the same way. The physician gives him a certificate on the druggist, and the latter is not allowed to charge more than the customer's station in life justifies."

"A ride on the governmental railways assures you absolute comfort and safety. They laugh at our 'spreading rail' and 'washout' accidents over here. The construction of German railways would permit the rails to spread. And after a train passes over a certain stretch of track a walker follows along behind to see that all is safe before another train is allowed to use it."

"There is no political graft. The moment a man goes to work for the government he is disfranchised. He is under civil service, and he has a life time job if he gives good service, but the others do the voting."

"I met an American lawyer who resides there and rather marveled at his ability to make a living. I told him about it."

"I make good living," he explained, "by telling Americans how to keep out of trouble. And I tell them if they take their cases to court they must expect exact justice. There is no chance for political influence and pull in the courts, as in America."—Kansas City Star.

FOR EARLY SPRING.

Cutaway Coats Approved
by Best French Tailors.

SUIT OF TAN CLOTH.

There is something essentially French and chic in this gay little cutaway coat, which is part of a Drecoil suit built for a spring bride. The suit is of tan cloth, with a band of black ottoman silk on the square collar and buttons of black jet with pearl centers. The boots and gloves are champagne color, the boots being in new gaiter top style, with uppers of tan cloth, having flat white buttons.

Wielding the Broom.

It is not an easy matter to sweep well, at any rate, if one judges by experience, for when a broom is put into the hands of the inexperienced more harm than good generally results from the use of it.

Light sweeping and soft brooms are desirable. Many a carpet is prematurely worn out by careless sweeping. In sweeping thick piled carpets always brush the way of the pile. By doing so it may be kept clean for years. But if the broom is used in a different way the dust will enter the carpet and soon destroy it.

If the carpet covers the whole floor of the room and it is nailed down, place the chairs and other articles of furniture which can be easily moved in the middle of the room, pin up the curtains and cover the couch with an old sheet.

Pieces of damp paper may be sprinkled around the sides of the room, and then sweep with a carpet broom toward one place.

Take short strokes, being careful not to raise the broom much. Sweep the corners and edges with a small whisk-broom.

Kit of Shoe Necessities.

In a smart looking case of tan leather are packed these necessities for a smart and correct toilet. All the appliances for taking care of black, tan and white boots are included, and there are even little brushes for finding dust in stitching and perforations of the leather.

APPLIANCES FOR SHOE CLEANING.

The Test of a Play.

John Craig, the donor of the Craig prize for plays, which has been given both last year and this year to women students at Radcliffe in preference to the Harvard students who apply, says that the common fault of plays submitted is talkiness. Usually half of the first act is taken up with dialogue that gets nowhere.

They Don't Grow Old.

There is a law in Germany that when a dog or cat has passed the age of six years it must be turned over to the police to be killed. Not a dozen animals are turned over a year. No matter how old a cat or dog becomes, the owner vows that the age is five years to a day.

Arlington Fire Alarm Location of Box

- 13 Corner Henderson and Sawin Streets.
- 14 Corner Mass. Avenue and Teal Street.
- 15 Corner Mass. Avenue and Winter Street.
- 16 Corner Mass. Avenue cor. Tufts Street.
- 16A Mass. Ave. bet. Palmer and Wyman Streets.
- 17 Lake Street, opposite D. Wyman's house.
- 21 North Union Street, opposite Fremont.
- 21B Broadway, near Gardner st.
- 221 Somerville Alarms.
- 22 Town Hall (Police Station)
- 23 Junction Broadway and Warren Street.
- 24 Beacon Street, near Warren.
- 25 Hope's House, Broadway.
- 26 Corner Medford Street and Lewis Avenue.
- 27 Corner Mystic and Summer Streets.
- 28 Mystic Street, near Fairview Avenue.
- 31 Kensington Park
- 32 Pleasant Street, near Lake Street.
- 34 Pleasant Street opp. Gray.
- 35 Pleasant Streets bet. Addison and Wellington
- 36 Town Hall.
- 37 Russell Street, corner Russell Terrace.
- 38 Academy Street, near Maple.
- 39 Mass. Avenue near Mill Street.
- 41 Mass. Avenue, near Schouler Court.
- 42 Corner Summer and Grove Streets.
- 43 House, Massachusetts Avenue
- 44 Brattle Street, near R. R. Station
- 47 Massachusetts Avenue opp. Forrest Street.
- 48 Forest Street, north of R. R. tracks.
- 52 Westminster Avenue cor. Westmoreland Ave
- 54 Cor. Park Avenue and Lowell St.
- 51B Elevated R. R. Car House.
- 61 Corner Florence and Hillside Avenues.
- 63 Walworth ave. opp. Wachusetts ave.
- 64 Hope No. 1 House, Park Ave.
- 65 Appleton Street near Oakland Avenue
- 71 Massachusetts Avenue near Hibbert Street.

SIGNALS.

2. Two blows for test at 6.45, a. m., 1 blow 12 o'clock noon, and two blows 6.45, p. m.
2. Two blows—Dismissal Signal.
- 2.3 Three blows twice—Second Alarm.
- 2.2. Four rounds at 7.15 (High school only) and 8.15, a. m., and 12.45 and 1.15, p. m.—No School Signal.
8. Eight blows—Forest Fire Signal, followed by two rounds of Box nearest fire.
10. Ten blows—Out of Town Signal.
- 12-12. Twelve blows twice—Police Call.

WALTER H. PEIRCE, Chief.

R. W. LEBARON, Supt. of Wires.

CHAS. T. HARTWELL

SANITARIAN

Graduate of the Philadelphia College Sanitary Science, Disinfection and Chemistry.

Will attend to all cases for fumigation or disinfection under the latest improved methods.

Office: 4 Medford St., { Arlington, Mass.
Res., 792 Mass. Ave., {
1927

Call 'Em UP.

For the convenience of our readers we give below a list of all our local advertisers who are connected by telephone. The telephone is coming to be an absolute necessity for business men who wish to accommodate their customers, and at the same time secure orders by making it easy to communicate with them.

Arlington Police Station,	407
Arlington Town Hall,
Board of Selectmen,	307-3
Assessors' Office,	307-3
Town Engineer & Water Registrar,	307W
Town Treasurer and Auditor,	380W
" Tax Collector,	380W
" Clerk,	397
Arlington Insurance Agency,
Geo. Y. Wellington & Son,	308-5
Bacon, Arthur L., mason,	310
J. F. Berton, painter and decorator	315L
First National Bank of Arlington,	192
Fletcher, express,	177
Gratto, William,	89
C. W. Gossmith,	173M
Also, public telephone,	21776
Holt, James O., grocer,	580
" " provision dealer,	582
Hardy, N. J., caterer,	113
Hartwell, J. H. & Son, undertakers,	127L & 127R

Hastfeld, J. V. N., Carpenter Arlington 901M

Hillard, R. W., insurance, Main, 3684

Keeley Institute, Lexington, 33

Kenny, Geo. W., carpenter, Arlington, 16

Locke, Frank A., piano tuner, Winthrop 317-2

Lexington Lumber Co., 370

Linton Tool Hall, 16-2

Lyman Lawrence, hardware, Lexington, 6-2

Marshall, A. A., Lexington, 244-1 and 3

Marshall, C. F., Old Upham Market, 535

Morton, O. B., Jeweler, Haymarket, 200-3

Myers, Alfred E., insurance, Main, 3894

Nourse, A. L., manicure, 786L

Oakwood, Dr. H. B., dentist, Lexington, 121-1

Parker, C. S. & Son, printers, 141

M. S. Parkhurst, 584M

Prince, W. A., provisions, 149-3

Reardon, E., expressmen, 96W

Shattuck, R. W. & Co., 114

Spaulding, Geo. W., Lexington, 28-3

Swan, James T., Public Accountant, 219

Taylor's London Furriers, Boston, 248-4

Wellington, Frank Y., notary public, 384-4

Wetherbee, Bros., 414W

Wood, Bros., Expressmen, 430

Yerxa & Yerxa, grocers, 135

Hose 1, 61J

Hose 2, 61K

Hose 3, 64M

Chemical A., 64R

If any of our advertisers have been inadvertently omitted from above list, and will bring us up, we shall be pleased to add their names to our next issue.

Boston Elevated Railway Co.

SURFACE LINES.

TIME TABLE.

Subject to change without notice.

Arlington Centre to Hanover Street—via Beacon st., Somerville). 4.37 5.17, a. m., intervals of 20 minutes to 11.30, p. m.

SUNDAY—7.09, a. m., and intervals of 20 and 30 minutes, to 11.30, p. m.

Arlington Heights to Subway.—4.05 (to Harvard square), 5.04, a. m., and intervals of 15, 10, 8, and 7 minutes to 11.30, p. m. SUNDAY—6.03, a. m., and intervals of 20, 15, 7 and 8 minutes to 11.30, p. m.

NIGHT SERVICE.—to Adams sq., via Harvard Sq.—11.41, 12.05, 12.09, 12.59, 1.09, 1.39, 2.39, 4.30 4.55, 5.37, 5.57 a. m., Sunday, a. m.

Arlington Heights to Sullivan Terminal—via Broadway, 5.13, a. m., and intervals of 15, 7 and 5 minutes to 11.30, night. SUNDAY—4.30, 6.25, a. m., and intervals of 15 and 10 minutes to 11.30, p. m.

Arlington Centre via Medford Hill side.—5.05, 5.25, a. m., and intervals of 10, 15 and 20 minutes to 11.30, night. SUNDAY—4.30, 6.25, a. m., and intervals of 10, 15 and 20 minutes to 11.30, night. No connection with L trains.

Night Service to Adams Sq., (by Transfer at Winter Hill) 12.45, 1.30, 2.30, 3.30, 4.30 a. m. Return via Medford car leaves Adams Sq. 1.30, 2.30, 3.30 4.30 a. m.

ELEVATED LINES.

Elevated trains run between Sullivan Square and Dudley street via the Tunnel, from 5.34, a. m., to 12.30, night. SUNDAY—5.04, a. m., to 12.30, night.

North Station Subway.
Nov 25 1911.

Good form

A Girl's Manners.

There are many small and unseen reefs upon which the girl seeking social success may come to grief, and one of the most dangerous is that of broken social engagements.

In the present day old fashioned courtesy and consideration seem to be asleep or else to have left society entirely. The modern hostess only too frequently receives a telephone message from some guest at the last moment saying without the least compunction, "So sorry, but it is impossible."

As a rule, this sort of thing is inexcusable. Of course conditions may arise under which nothing else can be done, but the girl who usually sends a message of this kind is the selfish type and rarely succeeds in attaining popularity. She is thinking more of her own caprice than of her hostess.

It is not an easy matter to fill in at dinner or luncheon or bridge. No matter how well poised a hostess may be, a disappointment of this kind is upsetting, and the selfish or thoughtless girl who is the occasion of her embarrassment is apt to have a black mark against her name in that particular hostess' mind.

The trouble is that the girl of today is too careless in her acceptance of invitations. On the spur of the moment she accepts and then frequently decides that the whole thing is a bore, or something else comes up that she would prefer doing, and she finally ends by declining the invitation at the last moment, thus arousing an antagonism that cannot help but handicap her in her social career.

It is a simple matter to decline in the first place. A declination of this sort a hostess has no right to resent, but once her list is closed it is another matter.

Telephone Is One Cause.

A young girl recently remarked that she accepted every invitation which came to her, then picked those she preferred, throwing over the others. This sounds well, but sooner or later it will result in unpopularity. Neither courtesy nor consideration justifies such a course.

Naturally one has preferences. There are certain things one would rather do. A girl should make up her mind what these things are and accept them before everything else, but she should not play fast and loose with invitations she does not want.

Let her decline them definitely the moment they are presented to her and she will find she makes fewer enemies, while at the same time she pleases herself.

One hears the impulsive girl say, "Oh, that is all very well, but what can one do in this day when people call you on the telephone and fire invitations at you point blank and your mind is as destitute of excuses as an empty birdcage?"

The best advice for this situation is to learn to think quickly and decline definitely if it is a thing one does not care to do. One can always have an engagement to sit at home and cultivate one's mind.

Courtesy Always Pays.

The average girl will say that this is a trivial subject, and if courtesy and consideration are trivial then it is, but it is the little things that so often get us disliked and land us in the lonely land.

The girl who accepts an invitation as an evidence of good will and treats it with perfect courtesy will find her social path smoother and her own pleasures less complicated.

The Rolling Stunt.

Not known to the multitude is the fact that almost every rich and portly dame has a "rolling suit," which very much resembles the small child's flannellette nightgown or the unstuffed coverlet of a rag doll.

When one of the aforementioned dames climbs into her suit it is very much stuffed, and the extent to which her avoirdupois has been reduced is gauged each day by the fit of the suit. Worn with it is a cap that ties on like a bathing cap, for madam's hair is apt to collect dust from the floor space where the rolling stunt is performed.

Fifteen minutes before breakfast and again at bedtime is the allowance for this pastime, which includes 100 turns over and back each time. This means all the way over and twice over if space allows. Little or no effort is required for the turning, and if the exercise can be followed by a hot bath so much the better.

Those who wish to reduce more rapidly than is accomplished by rolling alone have recourse to touching the finger tips or palms of the hands to the floor without bending the knees, as additional efforts, and also to the equally old and reliable method of lying on one's back on the floor and raising each leg straight up from the body for fifty consecutive times and then both together for as many more times.

Cookery Points

Winter Salad.

Salads for winter, whether served with roast meat or game, are an important branch of the cold weather cuisine. Salads can be made from most of the ordinary winter vegetables—cauliflowers, celery, beet root, tomatoes, cabbages, etc., and there are also available corn salad and the German salad potatoes, the latter of which are prepared in the same way as a potato salad.

Corn salad is often eaten without any garnish, as it has a delicate flavor of its own. It is at its best, however, when prepared with beets, but only a simple dressing should be used.

The beet is a very valuable winter salad vegetable. It is added as a garnish to most salads and can itself form the basis of a most delicious salad.

A favorite French beet salad is made as follows: Cut up a boiled beet into thin slices and steep in vinegar, pepper and salt for a little while. Prepare in the same way some potatoes, a few celery roots and, if liked, a few truffles.

Season the whole with salt, pepper, oil and vinegar and a little chopped gherkin, chervil and tarragon. Before serving the salad should be well drained and a good mayonnaise poured over it.

Colonial Apple Pie.

Sift one and one-fourth cups of flour with one teaspoonful of baking powder and one of salt. Place in a bowl and put into the mixture one-half cupful of cold lard. Beat one egg and add it together with sufficient ice water to make a stiff dough. Chill divide into two parts and line a deep pan with one part, allowing the paste to hang over the edge of the pan about an inch. Fill the prepared pan with thinly sliced apples, heaping them up. Cover with a covering of pie paste cut so as just to reach the edge of the pan. Now fold the lower crust up over the top one and press firmly together. Prick with a fork and bake in a moderate oven an hour. When cool cut around the edge with a sharp knife. Remove the upper crust, wash the apples fine and season with butter, sugar and cinnamon. Replace the top crust and serve with sweetened cream.

Boiled Tripe.

Unless the tripe is very tender it should be boiled as soon as it comes from the market. The pickled tripe is liable to be very sour, and many people prefer to use the fresh honeycombed tripe and add some acid condiment.

Drain the tripe and wipe dry; brush the crinkled surface with melted butter and sprinkle fine cracker dust over the top. If impossible to wipe dry, lay it first in the cracker dust.

Lay it in a greased wire broiler and cook the plain surface until it is warmed through, about four minutes, then turn and cook the crinkled surface until a delicate brown. Be careful not to burn it, as the crumbs scorch easily. Slip it off on a hot platter, crumb side up, and spread with maitre d'hotel butter. Garnish with lemon and watercress.

Escaloped Oysters.

Take two quarts of oysters. Wash them and drain off the liquor. Roll some crackers (not too fine), put a layer of oysters into a pan, cover with a layer of crumbs, some bits of butter and a little pepper and salt, then a layer of oysters, and repeat until the dish is full. Have cracker crumbs on the top. Turn a cupful of oyster liquor over it, add good sweet milk sufficient to saturate it thoroughly and bake three-quarters of an hour.

Coffee Fruit Cake.

One cup of molasses, a cup of brown sugar, a cup of butter, a cup of raisins, a cup of English currants, an egg, a cup of coffee (left over), a teaspoonful of soda, a teaspoonful each of cloves, cinnamon and allspice, four cups of flour. Mix well and bake an hour in a slow oven. This quantity makes one large cake or enough for six meals in a family of five. It is improved by the addition of two eggs.

Sponge Cake For Children.

One and a half cups of pastry flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder or one teaspoonful of soda and one-half teaspoonful of cream of tartar. Add two eggs broken into a cup, then fill up with thin cream and one cupful of sugar. Stir all together in a mixing bowl, flavor with lemon or vanilla. The secret is in the beating, five minutes or more.

Grapefruit Cocktails.

Peel the grapefruit and remove the flesh of each section from the tough skin that divides them. Place each portion in a sherbet or a cocktail glass and pour over them the juice of maraschino cherries or pineapple sirup. Garnish with a cherry and serve ice cold.

Concerning Turnips.

Turnips are useful in soups. They give the stock a good flavor. Turnips contain a substance which gives the soups in which they are cooked a gelatinous consistency when cold.

Yellow turnips ought to be boiled about two hours.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Clarence K. Willey and Harriet L. Willey to Augustus E. Scott and Frank D. Brown, Trustees under will of Levi Prosser, dated July 3rd, 1907, and recorded in the Registry of Deeds for the County of Middlesex, Book 5317, page 8, for breach of the condition contained in said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction, on the premises, on Saturday, the third day of February, 1912, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed described therein as follows, to-wit:

A certain lot of land with the buildings thereon, situated on Bedford Street, in Lexington, County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and bounded and described as follows, viz:—Commenced on said Bedford Street at a point one hundred and ninety three (193) feet southerly from Hill Street; thence westerly one hundred and twenty five (125) feet by lot No. 25 to lot No. 25; thence southerly to lot No. 25 and 19 sixty-two and seventeen one-hundredths (62-17/100) feet to lot No. 20; thence easterly by lot No. 10 one hundred twenty-one and eighteen one-hundredths (121-18/100) feet to said Bedford Street; thence northerly by said Bedford Street sixty two feet to the point begun at, containing seven thousand six hundred and seventy (7670) square feet of land. Meaning hereby to convey lot numbered 21 on "Plan of House Lots in Lexington, Mass., belonging to George F. Tewksbury," and recorded with the Middlesex South District Deeds, Book of Plans 112, Plan 15. $1000 will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale.

CHARLES F. WILLEY, Assignee of said mortgage.

December 26, 1911.

WILLIAM C. PROUT, Attorney.

60 State Street, Boston.

20Jan3w

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS

PROBATE COURT.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of PRENTISS HOBBS MANNING, late of Arlington, in said County, deceased.

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for probate, by Fred Joy, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the fifth day of February, A. D. 1912, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Arlington ADVOCATE, a newspaper published in Arlington, the last publication to be on one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, CHARLES J. MCINTIRE, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this fifth day of January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

W. E. ROGERS, Register.

20Jan3w

Our Hardwood Center.

Nashville, Tenn., lays claim to the production of more hardwood than any other city in the world. It lies in the center of the immense forests of hardwood lumber in what is known as the central southern hardwood field, extending westward from the Appalachians to central Arkansas and from the Ohio river to midway of the gulf states. Within these limits not less than 75 per cent of all the hardwood lumber used in this country and exported is obtained.

A Monument and a Squabble.

In the course of its deliberations at Lisbon in June, 1908, the international telegraphic congress voted to erect at Berne, Switzerland, a monument to commemorate the founding of the telegraphic union, at a cost of 170,000 francs, the competing sculptors to receive prizes to the amount of 20,000 francs. About 100 plans were submitted, and the jury awarded the first prize and the contract to Giuseppe Romagnoli. A protest has now been entered by three members of the jury, whose "artistic conscience" would not allow them to indorse the verdict of the majority, and a letter from Berne says that the matter has been made "further interesting by the fact that there is an exhibition at the local riding academy of the various designs and models, where the citizens may see for themselves and vote as to which one they would have for their monument."

ENGLISHMEN'S GAMES.

Quaint Hindu View of the Beating and Kicking of Balls.

Some amusing descriptions of East Indian life are given in Mrs. Penny's book, "The Rajah." Here is a Hindu servant's opinion of the English devotion to ball games, given to four rajas—princesses—whom he was trying to enlighten:

"The English," he said, "all play ball. Some beat balls with iron shod sticks, standing in the fields and striking with sufficient force to break a man's skull; some beat the ball with a long bit of wood in front of three sticks that represent their gods, some with corded spoons over a net wall, some with long handled hammers as they sit on horses; some kick the ball with their feet. The balls are of all sizes from a small orange to a man's head."

"By whose orders do they kick and beat balls?" he was asked.

"By order of their pujaris," the syc replied, "and he must know, because he serves the writing sahib."

"Why should such an order be given?" asked the second raji.

"They are a fierce and warlike people, those English, who must be always fighting and beating some one. It is by this means only that they are prevented from killing each other."

"But the Missle Sahib—would she, too, beat and fight?"

"She is strong. Who knows? At Bombay and Calcutta the English ladies beat balls over the wall of net. They do it that they may bear children fierce and strong like their fathers. When the babies are but a few months old they give them balls to creep with their little hands and to creep after as soon as they can move by themselves."

A Queer Monument.

A monument erected in the Stragelino cemetery has a very curious history. It is that of an old woman of Genoa, who made a living by selling strings of nuts in the streets. By frugality and industry she succeeded in amassing a small fortune in this way and then commissioned a well known sculptor of Genoa, Luigi Orsini, to make a life sized portrait of her in marble just as she appeared at her pitch in the streets. This statue she ordered to be placed in the famous Stragelino cemetery, probably the largest in the world—Wide World Magazine.

Sweet and Hard.

The Royal band was playing for the king, Louis XIV., the "Miserere of Lully." The king was on his knees and so was the whole court. His majesty kept the awkward attitude until the end of the hymn. After rising, the king turned to the Count de Grammont and asked how he found the music. "Very sweet to the ear, sire, but very hard on the knees."

Dogs Know.

"I don't know why it is that whenever I pass a place where a dog is kept the animal rushes out and barks at me as if I had no right to be on earth. Others can pass the same place and never be molested."

"Well, I can account for it only on the theory that it's mighty hard to fool a dog."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Frightful Thought.

Mrs. Wayback on first ocean voyage—John, I just heard a man say that if this boat was put up on end it would be higher than the Washington monument. If they're going to do anything like that we'd better get right off—Puck.

H-O

America's Breakfast For Over Thirty Years

Hornby's Oatmeal is the only properly cooked oatmeal—we cook it two hours in the mill—you cook it only 20 minutes. That makes it digestible—a fine food for everyone.

Reduces your breakfast work and worries 83%. Enables you to sleep an extra hour—cuts the fuel bill.

"H-O" IS FOR SALE BY

N. T. NEILSON,

W. K. HUTCHINSON,

YERXA & YERXA,

J. O. HOLT,

WM. WHYTAL & SON,

THOMAS GREEN.

WHY NOT Be a Subscriber==

Nothing can fill the place of a local paper like this one

1912 JANUARY 1912

SUN	MON	TUE	WED	THU	FRI	SAT
	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20
21	22	23	24	25	26	27
28	29	30	31

High Toned, Clean in every way; bright, newsy.—it is like sunlight in the home

Have it delivered FREE, instead of paying more for it at the agency and having to go for it each week . .

DON'T BLIND YOURSELF TO THE BOSTON HERALD

IF YOU WANT NEWS, HUMOR, FEATURES

CLEAN AND FIT FOR THE HOME

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, PROBATE COURT.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of CARL W. SCHWAB, late of Arlington, in said County, deceased.

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for probate, by Peter Schwab, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the sixth day of February, A. D. 1912, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Arlington ADVOCATE, a newspaper published in Arlington, the last publication to be on one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, fourteen days at least before said Court.

Witness, CHARLES J. MCINTIRE, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this eighth day of January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

W. E. ROGERS, Register.

20Jan3w

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, PROBATE COURT.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of CHARLES H. GRANT, late of Arlington, in said County, deceased.

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for probate, by Ella M. Grant, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her, the executrix therein named, without giving a surety on her official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the thirtieth day of January, A. D. 1912, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Arlington ADVOCATE, a newspaper published in Arlington, the last publication to be on one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, CHARLES J. MCINTIRE, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this ninth day of January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

W. E. ROGERS, Register.

13Jan3w

RAISES HUMAN WRECK.

The Man Who Has Prayed With Many Thousands of Prisoners.

In the American Magazine there is an interesting character sketch of Rollo H. McBride, who is now at the head of the Parling of the Ways Home, an institution in Chicago, to which released convicts are sent. In this home McBride puts these ex-convicts on their feet in a practical way by keeping them until he finds jobs for them and by encouraging them in many other ways. In his early life McBride was himself a useless and dissipated man. At the end of a four weeks' debauch he staggered into the Lifeboat mission in Chicago, deceived by the lights which hung in front of it. These lights resembled those placed in front of saloons. Something held McBride there after he had discovered his mistake.

When they had cleaned him up inside and out he said to them: "Heaven I don't know much about, but I've got a pretty good working knowledge of the other place. Give me a bucket of water or a garden hose or something and I'll show you a place where the fire is hot." They gave him a baby organ and two dozen hymn books, and he marched up to the Harrison street police station. Now, the old Harrison street station harbors more criminals in station of a year than any other police station. William T. Stead when he visited Chicago pronounced it a sanitary horror, worse than any prison he had seen in Russia. Into its noisome cellar McBride pushed his way and set up his baby organ before the cells where eighteen drunken, jeering men peered out and scoffed at him.

His singing wasn't much to talk about, and what he said in the sermon wouldn't have got him very far in an uptown church. He just stood up and shot out his story in short, stinging sentences that almost made a noise of impact as they hit home. And at the end a miracle happened. McBride asked them to raise their hands, as many as would like to have him pray for them to his Father for another chance. And sixteen of the eighteen raised their hands and knelt with him on that damp, cold floor.

Seven years he has gone to Harrison street. More than 18,000 men and women have cheered at him as he began his sermon, but 15,000 and more have concluded by kneeling down to pray with him.

A MILITARY PROBLEM.

Caring For the Wounded Under Modern Conditions of Warfare.

How to care for and remove the wounded under modern conditions of warfare is a problem that has not yet been worked out satisfactorily by any medical staff, largely because there has been a lack of data on which to base theories.

The only war that has furnished much basis for speculation was the Russo-Japanese war, and in that the Russians found that the average loss was 20 per cent of an army corps, with a maximum of 30 per cent in any division of 15,000 men. This 4,500 was made up of 500 killed and 4,000 wounded.

It is interesting to note that 85 per cent of the casualties came from rifle bullets, 8 per cent from artillery fire and 7 per cent from saber and bayonet wounds. This last shows the fierceness of the fighting when armies could come to hand to hand conflict, although rifle fire begins to be effective when two miles separate them.

Of those wounded nearly half were able to walk and only 10 to 15 per cent were so badly hurt that they could not be transported. To provide for the withdrawal of the rest is beyond the capacity of any ordinary ambulance train, the distance to a place of safety in the rear is so great.

European medical staffs are now planning to make use of automobiles as tractors, drawing supply wagons fitted with suspended stretchers. In this way one motor could rapidly take away a hundred wounded and return for more.—Boston Globe.

Cornstalk Paper.

Experts in the employment of the United States government have demonstrated that a very fair quality of paper can be manufactured from the common cornstalk. Paper suitable for books, magazines and for a very fair quality of writing paper has been made, and the experts declare it would be possible in any corn growing community for a paper mill to secure sufficient material of this character to keep the mill busy throughout the entire year. Corn fodder can be grown purposely for paper pulp. It should be planted thickly and cut before it is old enough to bear grain.—Harper's.

Hell Gate's Imposing Bridge.

Letting the contract for the imposing Hell Gate railroad bridge, which will serve to connect Long Island with the mainland at a point near the Harlem river, marks the beginning of work on the most imposing structure of its kind in this country and the longest bridge of its type in existence. Its dominating feature will be a massive arch bridge of 1,000 feet span, carrying four tracks capable of accommodating the heaviest railroad freight traffic. The total length of the bridge, including approaches, will be three miles.

Women in the Next Election.

According to estimates made in Washington, almost 1,000,000 women will be eligible to vote for president of the United States next November. These women are to be found in the six western states of California, Colorado, Idaho, Utah, Washington and Wyoming, which have granted equal suffrage.

Continued from page 1.

—The meeting of the Arlington Council, K. of C., last Tuesday evening, was one of the most interesting and enjoyable that the council has ever held. It marked the opening of the regime of the new officers, an entirely new set with two ex-

ARLINGTON HIGH	STONE SCHOOL
Blair f.....	f Shepherd
Ross f.....	f Foote
Bower f.....	f Childs
Percy f.....	f Eglee
Cousens op.....	op Sargent
Lowe p.....	p Lane
Buttrick g.....	g Kenney

Score, Arlington High 3. Goals made by Lowe, Bower, Ross. Referee, Hill. Umpires, Ellsworth and Plaistead. Timer, McCarthy. Time 20m and 15m periods.

After an interval of six weeks' recess, the Tourists resumed their meeting on Monday afternoon of this week, meeting with Mrs. C. A. Whittemore, on Hancock street. Since its last meeting the club has met with a great loss in the death of Mrs. James P. Prince. Although not a charter member, she had been connected with the club for nearly twenty years, and had served as president for two years. The spirit which pervaded the meeting on Monday afternoon was a most hopeful one, although a life had gone out from among them. Each member was deeply impressed with the feeling that the influence of such a life will remain with them always, while the precious memories which are left to them will be an inspiration for all future endeavor.

The Arlington Expressmen
Telephone 430.—Call us up.

Call Arlington 12.

Treasurer, or any officer or member.
Meetings 1st and 3rd Fridays of each month,
In GRAND ARMY HALL

Call Arlington 12.